GERMANY'S SIEGE GUNS REPORTED BOMBARDING LENINGRAD

HITLER ARMY CUTS OFF CRIMEA FROM RUSSIAN MAINLAND

BULLETIN

Shanghai, Sept. 18—(AP)—A Domei report from Tokyo said tonight that Japan had protested to Moscow over alleged Russian mines floating in the Japan Sea.

By the Associated Press

German troops were reported to have invested a fortified park and taken by storm 119 pillboxes on the outskirts of Leningrad today, while Nazi siege guns bombarded the heart of the old czarist capital and prepared to shell the great Kronstadt naval base of the Russian Baltic fleet.

Other dark news for the Soviet cause came in advices reaching London, which said Adolf Hitler's invasion armies at the extreme southern end of the front apparently had cut off the entire Crimea peninsula.

Sebastopol, the big Russian naval base on the Black Sea, thus presumably was isolated from the U. S. S. R. mainland.

In the nearby Middle East, a series of developments indicated that Turkey and Bulgaria may soon become involved in the gigantic conflict.

The Vichy radio reported that because of mounting tension between Bulgaria and Russia, Bulgarian mobilization was going on "in all haste."

Simultaneously, advices reaching Ankara said the British were moving artillery and other military units northward through Syria toward the Turkish border in a constant stream.

❖ Russia has sternly warned Bulgaria against serving as the base for new German military exploits.

London quarters also reported an Italian attempt to send warships flying the Bulgarian flag through the Turkish-controlled Dardanelles. The British ambassador at Ankara, it was said, "probably" had made representations to the Turkish government.

A highly-placed foreign observer at Ankara, recently returned from Rumania and Bulgaria, said Bulgaria had purchased six Italian destroyers in a "smoke screen" deal and had asked Turkey's permission to bring them through the Dardanelles into the Black Sea, where British and Russians suspected they might be used by the Axis.

Under the Montreux convention, no warship of a belligerent nation may pass through the Dardanelles. Although technically neutral, Bulgaria is dominated by Germany.

Helsinki dispatches declared Finnish troops had captured the city of Syvaeri (or Svirstroi) and blown up the tracks of the Leningrad-Murmansk railway, the major land route for supply of Red Army troops in the far north. Lake Onega and Arctic Sea approaches, however, would remain for Soviet military use even if all land communications were cut off.

Nazi warplanes operating from the Arctic to the Black Sea were credited with sinking three Soviet troop transports, a destroyer, two submarines and four torpedo-boats.

German commentators said the silencing of Kronstadt, which guards the sea gate to Leningrad, would permit Nazi warships to move up the Gulf of Finland and tage the siege-girt mertopolis with its 3,200,000 population under a devastating fire.

Countering Berlin's claims of success in the 89-day-old struggle, the Russians reported Red army troops defending Bryansk on the central front, had all but annihilated the mechanized forces of Col. Gen. Henz Guderian, the so-called "phantom general" of the French campaign.

A Soviet bulletin said Guderian,

GAS RATIONING TO BE CARRIED ON, ICKES SAYS

Filling Station Curfew To Be Continued in East Despite Finding of No Oil Shortage by Senate Investigators

STOCKS SHOW DROP

Washington, Sept. 18—(AP)—Secretary of Interior Ickes, the defense petroleum coordinator, declared today the rationing of gasoline and the filling station curfew would continue in the east, despite a finding by a senate committee that there was no oil shortage and that present restrictions should be lifted.

"To take off all restrictions now, and yell 'come and get it' Ickes declared, "would be stupid."

In his first press conference since the committee wound up its oil investigation September 11, the coordinator said the problem of an oil shortage did exist, and he cited figures to show that for the week ending September 13 gaso-

AIR-BORNE INFANTRY BATTALION PLANNED

Washington, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Plans for organization of the army's first air-borne infantry battalion, which will be equipped with small automobiles, motorcycles, and bicycles, were announced today by the War Department following months of experimental work.

The new battalion will be organized at Fort Benning, Ga., October 10 with an initial strength of 500 volunteers, including 50 from Fort Bragg, N. C., and 450 from Camps Croft, S. C., and Wheeler, Ga.

DENY REQUEST MADE BY U. S. PRESIDENT

Rome, Sept. 18—A report published in the United States, but not carried by the Associated Press, that Pope Pius XII had refused a request of President Roosevelthat he declare a war against Nazism justified, was denied at Vatican City today.

Osservatore Romano, semi-official Vatican City newspaper,, said "We are authorized to declare that the request was not made and thus the report is devoid of any foundation."

STRIKING ALLENTOWN PUPILS DISCIPLINED

Allentown, Sept. 18—(AP)—Several hundred students who played hookey from high school and stormed gates of the Allentown fair faced conditional suspension today with a warning it would be extended unless they appeared at school with their parents within 24 hours.

The school board voted the disciplinary action after the pupils rebelled against cancellation of the traditional three-day fair holiday as a precautionary measure because of the state's infantile paralysis outbreak.

Massing near the school with banners and placards, the students marched through the streets followed by police in cruiser cars. At the fairgrounds, officials estimated 500 boys and girls stormed the gates. There was no disorder.

Second and Third Armies Locked In Struggle Along 75-Mile Front

By the Associated Press

Armor-girded land forces of the Second and Third Armies locked today in a terrific struggle along a 75-mile wavering front from Alexandria, in central Louisiana, westward to Texas as the simulated warfare involving 500,000 men, reached its highest tempo since the start last Sunday.

Massed infantry, artillery, cavalry and armored forces drove through tangled underbrush and thick forests while overhead opposing air forces were engaged in support of their land forces.

Attacking with sudden fury, Lieut.-General Ben Lear's mobile Second Army drove from the north between two solidly entrenched flanks of Lieut.-General Walter Krueger's Third Army. The surprise move wedged heavily-armored Second Army forces deep into the heart of the numerically superior Third Army.

The air was filled with scattered dogfights as pursuit aircraft sought to protect bombers and observation planes circled the battleground in the greatest air power maneuver in the army's history.

The Second Army caught Third Army defenses unprepared in most places. The effectiveness of

OPERATORS WIN PRICE ADVANCE FOR HARD COAL

Administrator Leon Henderson Reverses Himself in Granting Increase; Will Not Tolerate Future Defiance

FOLLOWS CONFERENCE

Washington, Sept. 18—(AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson has approved the recent 15-cent-a-ton increase in anthracite prices but he warned producers that their defiance of his freezing order was an "unjustifiable act" which would "not be tolerated in the future".

He also obtained from the operators assurance that they would take no further action on price advances "without prior consultation and approval of the Office of Price Administration."

Abruptly reversing himself, Henderson last night accepted the increase after Pennsylvania's hard coal producers had defied his "maximum fair price" schedule setting the Aug. 15 prices as the ceiling for anthracite. His capitulation followed consultation with the producers.

Announcing the operators had submitted "full and comprehensive data supporting the price advance," Henderson revoked emergency price schedules issued last week and said the operators had agreed not to take further action on increases without prior consultation and approval of the Office of Price Administration.

The action junked the administrator's figure of $6.60 per ton for egg, stove and chestnut coal at the mine. The new figure, as set by the producers, is $6.75 per ton at the mine. That means domestic consumers must pay $11.75 a ton for egg, stove and chestnut coal and $10 for pea coal, the sizes most used for domestic purposes.

The coal operators in ignoring Henderson's schedules and boosting prices pointed out that their labor costs had gone up 12 per cent over last year while the price increases averaged only eight per cent.

Making it plain he was incensed by defiance of the producers, Henderson declared:

"I cannot condemn such arbitrary action too strongly. If followed by other industries it would threaten the whole basic structure of price stabilization."

Upon leaving the price administrator's office, President R. E. Taggart of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company said the operators had agreed to

FIFTH VICTIM DIES FROM AUTO INJURIES

Indiana, Pa., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Ten-year-old Margaret Sagal of Dixonville, Indiana county, died today, fifth victim of a highway accident that claimed the lives of her brother and sister.

The five were fatally injured and three others hurt when an automobile plowed into a pony wagon Monday night on a highway near Dixonville. Six of the children were riding on the wagon and two were pushing and pulling it.

State Motor Police yesterday filed an information with Justice of the Peace Walter Jackson charging the driver of the automobile, Paul Clemson of Denver, Colo., with involuntary manslaughter. Bond was set at $2,500.

RETALIATION HINTED

Berlin, Sept. 18—(AP)—Several Chileans—the exact number undisclosed—have been arrested in Germany on suspicion of engaging in activities hostile to the Reich, authoritative sources announced today.

"We regret being compelled to take such measures," one informant asserted, "but reasons of state make them imperative. We are in war and it is essential to eliminate all elements intriguing against us."

Disclosure of the arrests was made in connection with a query concerning 27 Germans taken into custody in Chile.

Authorized sources, blaming "the foreign situation," accused Chile of acting frivolously.

Maritime Commission Warns Government Will Requisition Vessels Unless Arbitration Proceedings Start at Once

STRIKES CONTINUING

BULLETIN

New York, Sept. 18.—(AP)—A spokesman for the Seafarers International Union (AFL) said today that the union had rejected a government ultimatum to agree to arbitrate a war bonus dispute with the steamship companies and threatened a general strike of coastwise and intercoastal vessels of other companies.

By the Associated Press

A threat by the Maritime Commission to take over 11 strike-bound ships brought ship operators and the AFL Seafarers International Union into a hurried conference at Weehawken, N. J., today.

The commission's ultimatum, delivered last night, was that unless arbitration proceedings were started immediately the government would requisition the vessels which have been held at dock six days by the labor dispute. Capt. Granville Conway of the commission said he had set noon as the deadline for action on the disputants.

Seven of the vessels are in New York harbor, two in New Orleans

ELECTION WILL MARK CLOSE OF LEGION SESSION

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 18—(AP)—The American Legion's 23rd national convention ends today with election of a new commander to lead the organization in a defense program calling for support of President Roosevelt's foreign policies and granting of lease-lend aid to Soviet Russia.

A majority of 1,478 delegates decided late yesterday, after a stormy debate, that extension of the lease-lend act to help the Red army fight Nazi Germany would not be in conflict with the Legion's traditional stand against Communism.

The decision was reached on an 874 to 604 vote tabling a minority report of the convention's foreign relations committee, which sough to make clear that endorsement of the national administration's defense efforts did not include help for Russia.

Earlier the convention went on record favoring repeal of the neutrality law and use of American troops wherever needed to keep war away from American shores.

CONVOYS ARE USED BY NAVY

Navy Secretary Knox Discloses Atlantic Fleet Is Using All Methods to Protect British-Bound Cargoes; Hunt Is On for Axis Surface Raider Reported Operating in Pacific

WITHHOLDS DETAILS ON ESCORT SERVICE

Washington, Sept. 18.—(AP)—With convoys ploughing the Atlantic and a grim raider hunt on in the Pacific, the United States navy let actions do the talking back today to repeated Axis threats of dire consequences.

When Germany believed there was a possibility of convoys months ago, no less a person than Grand Admiral Erich Raeder openly warned the United States that the Reich would consider such a step "an open war act' and that the German navy would use its guns if necessary against American warships on such duty.

But all uncertainty on the question of American convoys was dissipated late yesterday when Navy Secretary Knox disclosed that the Atlantic fleet was using all methods, convoys included, to safeguard British-bound lease-lend cargoes in the 2,000 miles of the north Atlantic that are regarded as "defensive waters."

The navy chief thought it "unwise and indiscreet" to go into further details, and declined to answer a question as to whether the American escorts were turning over the protected cargoes to the royal navy somewhere off Iceland for the final 800-mile voyage to port.

At the same time, however, Knox revealed that the navy believed an Axis surface raider was operating near the Galapagos islands in the South Pacific and, while the fact had not been positively established, the hunt was on.

"We'll tell the world about it," Knox promised if any raider was caught.

JAMES WILLING TO BE UMPIRE AT CONFERENCE

Harrisburg, Sept. 18—(AP)—Governor James said today he would be "very glad to help" a legislative commission solve Pennsylvania's congressional re-apportionment problem if the members call him in as an umpire.

The commission of five senators and five repreesntatives was named yesterday to make another try at reducing the state's congressional districts from 34 to 33—a task which the legislature failed to accomplish in a six-months long session.

"If the members should want me to be an umpire and if my decision should be final, I'll be very happy to help", the governor told his press conference.

James added, however, that he had "no pre-conceived notions of a solution to the problem."

Leaders in both branches were outwardly optimistic at the chances of reaching an agreement, however, after the committee personnel was announced by Speaker Elmer Kilroy and Senator Charles H. Ealy, president pro tempore.

The ten men not only must accomplish what the 258 members of the legislature were unable to do in nearly seven months of deliberation—agree to re-apportion the state's representation in congress—but they must do it in time

The youth's body was found in a wooded section several miles from his home here, Burhans said Hall left a note to his mother saying:

"I'm going to end it all. I asked a girl at camp to marry me and she refused."

FATAL ACCIDENT ON HIGHWAY JOB AT NO. WARREN

Laborer Employed by Tri-State Engineering Corp., Is Instantly Killed When He Steps In Front of Truck Near State Hospital

OPERATOR IS NOT HELD

The first fatal accident on the North Warren highway improvement project since the Tri-State Engineering Corp., of Washington, Pa., started work on the contract last April, occurred this morning about nine o'clock and resulted in the death of a laborer, Elmer E. Leach, aged 36 years, when he was struck by a truck operated by Perry Bishop, aged 23, of Union City, at the crossing just north of the power house at the Warren State Hospital.

Information given to Coroner Ed Lowrey and State Motor Policemen L. G. Fobes and K. W. Leep was employed with a group in connection with an excavating machine just south of the crossing. He had walked across the paved section of the highway for an implement and was on his way back when he observed the truck coming from the south. He evidently became confused and instead of stopping long enough to permit the machine to pass, he darted into the pavement in front of it. Before the driver could bring the large truck to a stop the right fender had struck him. The body was carried thirty feet before it rolled off to the left side of the road when the truck was brought to a stop.

Examination showed that the head was terribly crushed and a physician who made an examination later stated that death must have been instantaneous.

J. C. Trump, superintendent of the project, who was an eyewitness to the accident, stated that he saw Leech on the pavement opposite him, and fearing that he was going to attempt to cross in front of the truck, called a warning which the unfortunate man failed to heed. He said the truck was not more than 35 or 40 feet away from Leech, when he first observed it. He was of the opinion that Leech became confused.

Another eyewitness, Robert Payne, 25, of Kane, operator of the shovel, corroborated the statement made by Mr. Trump.

After the motor police and the coroner had completed the investigation at the scene of the accident, removal was made to the Lutz funeral home. Plans for the services will not be completed until after the arrival of relatives from West Virginia.

Mr. Leech had been residing in this section for the past five years, and had been employed on similar road jobs during that period. He was born in West Virginia February 25, 1905, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Leech, who are believed to reside at Rupert, W. Va. Also surviving are a brother, Charles Leech, at Rupert, and a sister, Mrs. Mattie Gibson, who lives near Pittsfield, this county. He had been making his home more re-

Members of the governor's cabinet, county leaders, Mrs. Caroline M. Huber, state vice-chairman and Frank C. Hilton, chairman of the Young Republicans, are other guests expected at the affair.

Torrance, a resident of Westmoreland county, became state chairman after managing James' gubernatorial campaign in 1938. He was re-elected for a second two-year term in 1940.

PRESIDENT ASKS FOR BIG FUND

Additional $5,985,000,000 Requested from Congress for Lease-end Program; Would Bring Total Allotment to Nearly 13 Billion Dollars for Assistance to Axis Enemies

SPEEDY ACTION ON BILL RECOMMENDED

Washington, Sept. 18—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress today for an additional $5,985,000,000 for the lend-lease program so that there might be "no interruption in the flow of aid to those countries whose defense is vital to our own."

In a letter to Speaker Rayburn, he recommended speedy action. The appropriation would bring the total of lease-lend funds to $12,985,000,000.

Mr. Roosevelt noted that of the original $7,000,000,000 last March $6,280,000,000 had been allocated.

He sent to Rayburn a letter from Budget Director Harold D. Smith which contained a proposed appropriation measure showing the projected breakdown of the $5,985,000,000.

The largest single item, reflecting a determination to supply vital needs for the enemies of the Axis, was $1,875,000,000 for "agricultural, industrial and other commodities and articles."

The next biggest of the subdivisions was $1,120,000,000 for ordnance and ordnance stores of various kinds, including armor and ammunition. For planes and aeronautical material, including engines, parts and accessories, it was suggested that $685,000,000 be laid down.

One stipulation contemplated in the draft of the legislation sent along by the budget bureau would forbid use of any of the lend-lease funds to pay any person who advocates, or belongs to an organization which advocates, the overthrow of the United States government "by force or violence."

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau disclosed today that United State financial aid to Russia began a month ago with a $10,000,000 treasury advance to the Soviets.

An affidavit would be considered prima facie evidence that the person making it was not such an advocate.

The measure also would let the president authorize contracts with foreign governments for the United States to supply them with defense articles, information or services, which would be paid by these governments. This would apply to any country whose defense the president deems vital to the defense of this nation.

If the chief executive considered any defense article covered by the act to be necessary for the defense of this country, it could be

NATION'S AIR POWER PRAISED AS THE BEST

New Orleans, Sept. 18—(AP)—Two high ranking U. S. air officials expressed the belief in an interview today that this nation's air power is great enough to withstand any assault.

They were Robert A. Lovett, assistant secretary of war for air, and Major General Henry H. Arnold, chief of the army air forces, who arrived here yesterday after an inspection trip of air facilities in the vital Louisiana-Texas maneuver area.

Both refused to be quoted directly on the United States' air power, but were emphatic in the belief that its equipment is as good as any in the world and that its personnel is superb.

Nation's Oil Industry Requested To Boost 100-Octane Gas Output

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 18—(AP)—Wright W. Gary, director of refining in the office of the petroleum coordinator for national defense, today called upon the nation's oil industry to produce all the 100-octane gasoline possible.

Known as a magic fuel, 100-octane gasoline gives airplanes greater speed, higher altitude and better maneuverability. Use of this fuel was credited by some British authorities with enabling England to beat off German air assaults in the summer of 1940.

Speaking before the National Petroleum Association at its annual convention, Gary said "the battle of democracy is being fought on many fronts and on all of these fronts 100-octane aviation gasoline must be supplied by our own refining industry."

All officers of the National Petroleum Association were re-elected today for another term. These included President N. H. Weber of Chicago, Executive Vice-President Charles L. Suhr of Oil City, Pa., First Vice-President H. A. Logan of Warren, Pa., Second Vice-President Otto Koch of Bradford, Pa., Recording Secretary Herbert G. Eaton of Warren, and Treasurer G. B. Hunter of Emlenton, Pa.

PRETTY MODELS ADD INTEREST TO FALL OPENING

The presence of six young and attractive models to display the latest in fall wearing modes added immeasurably to the pleasure of the unusually large number who gathered in the Betty Lee Shop in Second avenue last evening for the autumn style showing.

Models seen in a variety of street, school and business apparel were the Misses Victoria Nelson, Betty McKinney, Marcella Wilson, Phyllis Leuthold, Mary Jane Gray and little Theresa Brindis.

Brown leaves contrasted effectively with the golden orange decorations of the store's interior and dominating the stage was a beautiful fan-shaped arrangement of flowers, done by The Flower Shop and harmonizing with additional flowers placed along the ledges. Many of the garments shown by the models were in the darker fall shades and these appeared to excellent advantage against the lighter background.

The center of the floor was cleared to provide space for the visitors and the entire sales personnel was present to extend greetings and assist the shop's many friends.

Windows were attractive with green panels against the light background and only a few garments were chosen for most effective display.

As the continuous style show was concluded, two of the models appeared with a large placard emphasizing the sale of defense stamps and bonds in the current "Retailers-for-Defense" observance and the large audience responded with a burst of sincere applause.

A number of public-minded citizens—men and women—are engaged at the present time in a variety of tasks in preparation for the campaign which will be launched next month for the Y. W. C. A. This campaign is being heralded as the "Y. W. C. A. Emancipation Campaign;" so-called because its purpose is to emancipate the local association from its burden of debt.

This debt has not been incurred by spending more money for carrying on its program of activities than it has received in the way of normal income and contributions received through the Community Chest. The debt was incurred at the time the Activities building was erected and equipped. There is a mortgage on the property, and each year a thousand dollars must be paid for interest charges. This money comes to the Y. W. C. A. as part of its share of the funds provided by the Community Chest. If the mortgage is cancelled, as it will be if the campaign is crowned with success, that one-thousand dollar item will be eliminated from the Chest budget.

In addition to the money the Y. W. C. A. must have to cancel the mortgage, a further sum is required to care for absolutely necessary repairs to buildings and equipment. The campaign is for $20,000. To apply on this total, the Y. W. C. A. has a promise of a gift of $5,535.00 a check for which will be forthcoming during the week of Oct. 13-18, provided a supreme effort is being made at that time to secure the total amount required. This leaves a balance of $14,465.00 to be raised by the Y. W. C. A. in its community-wide appeal. The number of representative men and women who have already identified themselves with the campaign is indicative of a whole-hearted and generous response by the community when the appeal is made.

Interest in Schools of Week Day Religious Education in Warren Is Believed to Set Record in State

The overwhelming response of Warren's young people to the opportunity to enroll in the Schools of Week Day Religious Education apparently has set a record in the history of this plan, at least in Pennsylvania. At an enthusiastic well attended meeting of the Warren Council of Week Day Religious Instruction at the Y. W. C. A. last evening it was announced that out of a total of 1300 High School students 1149 had enrolled, making a percentage of 87%. Towns and cities of which figures were available have ranged from fifty percent to eighty percent enrollment. Warren's 87%, which may reach 90% if some twenty-five enrollments which did not get in on Tuesday are admitted to the schools' roster, is apparently unprecedented.

As a result the original estimates of the number of classes and the number on the teaching staff of the seven schools has had to be revised upward, the community Protestant school composed of 12 churches in the central part of Warren being required to increase their teaching staff from an estimated ten or twelve to twenty-two teachers.

As the enrollments stood last evening the number attending each school will be as follows: First Lutheran and St. Paul's Lutheran, meeting at the First Lutheran—174. St. Joseph's Roman Catholic, at St. Joseph's School—162. Holy Redeemer Roman Catholic, at the church—99. Tephereth Israel Congregation, at the Synagogue—6. First Evangelical, its own sanctuary—21. Church of the Nazarene and Free Methodist Churches, at the Nazarene Church—71. Warren Community Protestant School including Calvary Baptist, Bethlehem Congregational, Emanuel Evangelical and Reformed, Epworth Methodist, First Baptist, First Methodist, First Presbyterian, Grace Methodist, Salem Evangelical, Salvation Army, Trinity Memorial Episcopal and United Brethren—Freshmen and Sophomores at First Methodist and Juniors and Seniors at the First Presbyterian.

If necessary some classes will be held in the First Baptist or the Trinity Memorial Episcopal churches. Enrollment in this school includes 198 Freshmen, 152 Sophomores, 145 Juniors and 121 Seniors, a total of 616.

The Rev. J. A. Davidson presided, Mrs. Guy F. McCloskey, secretary read the minutes of previous meetings.

The Rev. Dr. Thos. E. Colley reported for the curriculum committee, the Rev. E. Pinkney Wroth for the committee on organization, the Rev. Harold C. Warren for the committee on finance.

By vote of the Council it was decided that each school would manage its own finances for the conduct of its work. Spokesmen reporting for each school included: The Rev. Fr. M. E. Dailey for the Holy Redeemer; The Rev. J. C. Wygant for the 1st Evangelical; The Rev. Edw. K. Rogers for the First Lutheran-St. Paul's Lutheran; The Rev. Fr. Edward Jacobs for St. Joseph's Roman Catholic; Rabbi Hans Kronheim for Tephereth Israel Congregation; The Rev. Thos. E. Colley for the Community Protestant School of 12 cooperating churches.

By action of the Council, that body was opened to include representatives from churches outside of Warren boro whose young people attend Warren High school and Beaty school which it is understood includes seven adjoining townships.

Certain matters of credit allowances were clarified, it was voted to follow the school board's recommendation to allow one-half point each year, or a possible total of two credits for four years, for the one-hour per week course offered by the weekly religious education schools.

All schools will hold their first sessions promptly next Wednesday, September 24th at 10:40 a. m.

By action of the council it was recommended that the school authorities admit to enrollment a considerable group whose enrollment requests signed by parents or guardians were not filed before the deadline of Tuesday the 16th, suggesting that all registering before Saturday next, Sept. 20th be admitted.

Arrangements were also made to contact a number of church groups which have not so far nominated representatives to the council, which is made up of the pastor and two lay representatives for each church participating.

Following adjournment of the general council meeting, representatives for the twelve cooperating churches of the Warren Community Protestant School held a special meeting with their executive committee discussing final arrangements for the school, matters concerning teaching staff, curriculum, finance, etc., being considered.

All present expressed keen gratification over the remarkable response to this new community project for weekday religious education, which in a measure demonstrates that Warren young people reflect a high standard in the matter of character and religious awareness for the entire State of Pennsylvania.

FALL STYLE TRENDS PORTRAYED IN METZGER-WRIGHT OPENING

Last evening the women of Warren and the surrounding communities availed themselves of the opportunity to see the latest in fall fashions for the home and for themselves at the Metzger-Wright Company's fall opening.

The store was attractively decorated with fall flowers and attractive displays of fall merchandise. When one entered the store, one was immediately in an autumn atmosphere, with the beautiful fall fabrics draped on the center tables along with matching accessories. To the right, the newest shades of make-up were on display to show what one should wear with each of the fall colors. To the left, a table of hand engraved and hand colored prints, reproductions of 18th and 19th century prints, and the famous Les Roses prints by Pierree-Joseph Redoute, attracted much attention.

Toward the back of the store was a gorgeous array of fall linens, blankets and comforters, which made one wish to start buying at once. The new fall shoes were especially attractive, with the new bow treatment on the pumps, and soft leathers.

On the sceond floor, the wall paper and house furnishings were displayed in model rooms which were exceptionally attractive. The new large floral prints for drapery and slip covers were shown in furniture and window displays. Each display carried with it a coordination of colors with the complete room decorations, which ranged from deep tones to the palest pastels.

Of course the third floor was the center of attraction for many women with its displays of what the well dressed women and girls will be wearing in ready to wear lingerie and millinery. Black for evening and tones of brown and blue for afternoon and sports wear were much in evidence, with some green in the deep leaf tone. The hats were either small pill boxes or large off-the-face styles. The back drape was seen on many models.

Two of the displays were of special interest in the housewares department on the fourth floor. One was that of the new crystal ware and the other was of a new Steubenville pottery designed by Russell Wright, which was on display at the breakfast bar.

Each of the windows designed by Warren Clark, display manager of the store, brought exclamations of, "How Lovely" from those who viewed them. The two Liberty street windows were given over to evening wear, one with an areo blue evening dress with gold accessories and the other with a black crepe evening dress and gold accessories. Large spotlights silhouetted the figures on the background. On Second street, the first window was given over to a deep green costume suit with brown accessories, which gave the theme for the four windows carrying out the fall motif in hay, fall foliage and cattails. Each window carried out one fall color. The three last windows on Second street were more formal wear for daytime, each being especially spotlighted to bring out its beauty.

Everyone attending the Metzger-Wright's 45th fall opening felt that it was even lovelier than ever before and enjoyed meeting friends and being together for one more evening long to be remembered.

BOMBING OF CAIRO

DeWitt MacKenzie, Associated Press foreign writer, is of the opinion that "the Axis may have uncorked a volcano by bombing of Cairo—one of the Holy Cities of Islam—and causing heavy civilian casualties."

Commenting on the fact that the Egyptian government protested to Rome and Berlin, MacKenzie intimates the incident might easily be the forerunner of far-reaching developments.

"On the face of it," he says, "there seems to be so little for the Axis to gain, and so much it could lose, that the operation is difficult to explain satisfactorily. It looks almost like one of those errors of judgment which happen in war as well as in peace.

"The Italo-German brotherhood may be trying to frighten Egypt into demanding that the British withdraw altogether from the country, thus depriving Britain of a military base which is one of the foundation stones of imperial security. That would seem to be a forlorn hope, however, since the only thing which would budge the British out of Egypt would be force, and plenty of it.

"An alternative reason for the operation might be to tie British troops and equipment, especially warplanes to Egypt pending the outcome of Hitler's all-out offensive in the Russian Ukraine—a drive which probably contemplates an invasion of the Middle East, through Iran (Persia) if possible.

"As opposed to these possible gains, the Axis runs a chance of turning the entire great Moslem world against it, and that at a time when Germany and Italy badly need the support of the Moslems in view of the projected assault on the Middle East.

"Then, too, the bombing of the Holy City of Cairo opens up the possibility of British retaliation against Rome. London warned Mussolini last spring that the Eternal City would be attacked if either Cairo or Athens were bombed.

"At that time London said the greatest care would be taken to spare the Vatican City, but charged that the Italians were prepared to drop captured British bombs there the next day high Fascists in Rome characterized this charge as an incredible manifestation of infamous, slanderous and disloyal propaganda.

"Since the British have made this charge, however, one can hardly escape the thought that if the bombing of Cairo did tantalize the British into retaliating against Rome, and if a bomb did fall in Vatican City, then there likely would be a heavy reaction against the Allies. The reaction in America might have a decidedly adverse effect on our program of aid for Britain."

MacKenzie concludes by saying "I don't suggest that this was what caused the bombing of Cairo. It may be that the British will decide that the smart thing to do is not to exact any reprisal against Rome."

According to those in the know, locally at least, "Retailers-for-Defense Week" is proving an admirable success. Along with your purchases, don't forget to buy Defense Stamps or Defense Bonds. Patriotic objectives should not be lost sight of in this busy workaday world.

Dan Lytle, whose passing was recorded Wednesday, will always be remembered by a host of admirers, not only for his interest in athletics, but for his unusual ability both on the baseball diamond and the football field.

Every community, sooner or later it is expected, will be asked to stage drives for the collection of both scrap iron and razor blades. Warren may just as well get organized on both and get the jump on the others.

The tragic death of John J. Mead, Sr., 78, publisher of the Erie Times, brings to a sudden end a career which was identified with the progress of the lake city and with journalism generally.

And as one citizen was heard to remark, in the darkness at the corner of Liberty and Second Monday evening—"Hope all blackouts will be in fun!"

The official count, completed Thursday, shows that a lot of folks were nominated for office who didn't even know they were candidates.

• EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
Warren Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Washington, Sept. 18—National defense now takes in everything under the sun, but the funniest of all the letters that flood down on the Office of Production Management came the other day from a woman of 59 who, in the interests of doing her bit while the silk shortage was on, offered her legs for the modeling of cotton stockings—in place of Marlene Dietrich's.

That offer was declined with thanks. But there are other crazy letters about which something has to be done in a hurry. There was, for instance, an emergency request for formaldehyde. It seems that the stuff has all kinds of defense uses, but it also goes into embalming fluid. And one manufacturer of embalming fluid wrote in to tell the defense organization he wanted formaldehyde pretty quickly.

In the information division of OPM there is a section of 35 people who do nothing but answer questions that can't be referred to another section. Last February, it was getting only about 400 letters a week. Today the information division gets 8000 letters a week, and this does not include OPM's regular business mail.

Only a small part of this general information mail can be answered by form letters. When requests are made for certain publications or orders, then standard forms can be used, but there are only about 10 of these and a good many of them say "No" in various polite ways. They are used to answer the requests of people who want too much for nothing. But at least half of 4000 of these letters must be individually answered every week.

Mailing lists on OPM'S information sheets are tremendous. Four million pages of these information sheets are ground out from a battery of duplicating machines every month, and they go to special and select lists containing in all nearly 25,000 names of people or firms who are interested in some particular phase of the defense business. The standing order list alone has some 5000 names on it, and that takes in the manufacturers or dealers in some particular commodity like rubber or paper who have to be specially notified whenever any defense organization takes any action affecting the price or priorities or supply of whatever it is they're dealing in.

Then there is the list of nearly 8000 contract holders, ranging from the 4500 who have contracts of $1 to $50,000, up to the select list of 299 who have contracts of $1 million or more. They have to be kept informed of changes in priorities or methods of handling contracts, or any changes in regulations for doing business with the government. Also, they get special mailings of posters to put on their shop bulletin boards to keep up labor morale.

More than 4000 weekly newspapers and 1800 daily papers get direct mailings of defense information. Three hundred radio stations are given a similar news service, and about 500 people are kept advised of the radio programs that deal with national defense subjects.

Trade associations numbering 1350—organizations of furniture men, lumber men, household appliance people and the like are kept advised of what goes down their alleys.

Just keeping the big, sprawling complex, defense organization informed of what its own departments are doing is one of OPM's meanest jobs. One of its recent ideas was to condense all the news about all the defense activities, and circulate this digest to more than 600 of its top-flight executives.

OPM's labor activities are spread through a mailing list of nearly 1000 union officials, labor newspapers, labor contractors and personnel officers.

Mendoza Led Venezuela's Fight for Independence

A LEADING patriot in Venezuela's fight for independence was Dr. Cristobal Mendoza (1772-1839), statesman, jurist and scholar who was honored philatelically in the 1939 stamp above commemorating the 100th anniversary of his death.

He came from an eminent family, received a fine education and in his early life devoted himself to literary pursuits. He studied law and held a chair in philosophy at Merida.

He became governor of the province of Barinas and was noted as the protector of the Indians.

During Venezuela's fight for independence, which was declared in 1811 but not completely attained until 1823, he was a staunch supporter of the famous Venezuelan patriot, Simon Bolivar. It was Mendoza who called Bolivar the "liberator," a name which became famous throughout South America.

Mendoza was elected to the first federal congress of Venezuela and served with distinction.

"SALADA" TEA

America's Finer Tea

A WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — If the United States were to go to war tomorrow, it would be the young men of World War I who would direct the military affairs of the country in World War II.

Ask the War Department for a list of top-ranking generals—the real brass hats—from Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, down. Thumb through the list of 19 and you'll find that every one of them served in World War I—12 of them overseas, and all of them with a temporary or permanent rank of major or higher.

Their average age today is 58 years (the two oldest are 62, the two youngest 52), which gave them an average age of 35 when the A. E. F. was pouring men and steel into the western front.

Nine of these ranking generals are graduates of West Point; three are graduates of Virginia Military Institute (including General Marshall); five first showed up on the army rolls as second lieutenants, without previous army training; two came up from the ranks.

BUT right about there all efforts at grouping must come to an end. It's not hard to look at the record and pick out our two most distinguished soldiers. They would be General Marshall, who as a colonel was in the thick of the Meuse-Argonne and St. Mihiel offensives and later was aide-de-camp to Gen. John J. Pershing; and Lt.-Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who has just come out of retirement to become commander of the armies in the Far East. General MacArthur was formerly chief of staff, was a Brigadier General at 38, has more citations for bravery and distinguished service than any man in the Army today. He represents the best Army tradition — a West Point graduate whose father was a lieutenant-general before him.

On the other hand, how about Lt.-Gen. Leslie J. McNair, who now is chief of the general headquarters? General McNair went to France with the "Fighting First" and so distinguished himself that he was moved up to general headquarters of the A. E. F. —a brigadier general at 35.

And how about Maj.-Gen. Henry H. "Hap" Arnold, chief of the Army Air Force? His first view of the World War battlefront came on an inspection tour after the Armistice was signed. A second lieutenant in 1911, General Arnold was considered by some of his associates "crazy as a loon" because he went into that idiotic branch of the signal corps, aviation.

He whooped around in an old Wright biplane crate that boasted a 40-horse power engine with two propellers driven by chains and sprockets. He soared nearly a mile and quarter into the blue to leave the world gasping over a new altitude record. He set the signal corps quivering with excitement by using radio telegraphy to report artillery fire. He organized the first air defense of the Panama Canal and from a swivel chair in Washington was one of the key men to "keep 'em flying" through the World War.

THIS could go on forever, but I'd like to skip the rest and tell about the two boys who came up the hard way. First there's Lt.-Gen. Ben Lear Jr., now in command of the second army and the same who got himself in print for chastising his "yoo-hoo" boys. Forty-three years ago, Ben Lear Jr. was an 18-year-old printer's devil on a Colorado newspaper. His father was in the composing room. Came the Spanish American war, and father and son enlisted. In less than a year the "First Colorado Infantry" had made proud history in the Philippines and one of its famous top sergeants was Ben Lear Jr. and favorite soldier in his platoon was Private Ben Lear Sr.

The other is Lt.-Gen. Walter Krueger, in command of the Third Army, with headquarters at San Antonio, Tex. Also a veteran of the Spanish American war, for which he enlisted while a student in Technical High School, Cincinnati, General Krueger has a record that is rare for high officers in this man's army.

Not only did he cover himself with blood and glory in the World War (ending it as chief of the A. E. F. infant tank corps in the thick of things at Chaumont), but if the United States were to go to war tomorrow—and that war should be against Germany—General Krueger would be carrying the American flag for a second time against his native land. He was born in West Prussia Jan. 26, 1881, and was eight years old before he set foot in the country for which he was to distinguish himself as a great soldier.

FOR THE LOVE OF PAM

By VIVIEN GREY

Chapter Nine

Pursuit

JERRY had missed Pam and was circling the room alone looking for her when Antoine came in.

"What are you on the prowl for?" Antoine asked.

"Looking for Pam," Jerry replied.

Antoine stopped beside Jerry. He was glad he had not been asked if he had seen Pam. As it was, he could keep Pam's confidence by merely saying nothing. Though something about that made him uncomfortable. It seemed not quite right.

"I don't know what your idea is about that girl, Jerry," he began thoughtfully, oppressed by the feeling he should do something.

And Jerry, tried to the limit of his endurance by Freda's willfulness, turned on him quickly.

"Must I tell you I love her?" he demanded sharply.

Antoine glanced at him, trying to understand. "Well, you don't have to love a highball to enjoy it, you know," he began hesitantly.

"It isn't that sort of thing."

Antoine wondered if that was the time to tell Jerry Pam had gone home crying. Or was it kinder to keep Pam's confidence? He was so in the dark. Besides, he was vaguely aware of something within himself that had been hurt. Pam was lovely. She was like a song. A love song. With her nearby he might compose some of the things he'd wanted to. The sweet, beautiful tranquillity of her—but Romero was looking at him. He'd better go up and take the baton. He was glad Jerry meant right, anyhow.

Without speaking again, Antoine moved away. Jerry had forgotten him and was searching the place. Freda caught sight of him.

"You look wild-eyed," she said, and stopped him as he would have passed her. "Dance with me, darling. I'm bored limp. Besides, I've quite forgotten and forgiven your foolishness of a moment ago. I'm a smart girl, Jerry. I know there's no futility like being bitter. And so, with me, water under the bridge is just—well, water under the bridge!"

Jerry's answer was to ask if Freda had seen Pam.

"No, darling, I haven't seen your island flower! Maybe she's out buggy-dashing with some local swain!"

"Don't be like that!" Jerry exclaimed sharply. "This isn't the moment for wise-cracks. Besides, that mood isn't becoming to you."

"Is my darling worried about the little Conch?"

"If I didn't know it was Cuba-libre talking, I'd slap you for that, Freda!" Jerry's voice was shaking with anger. "And don't say Conch in that tone of voice. Some of the nicest people on this island, aristocrats in more ways than one, are Conch." Jerry paused a moment to look intently at Freda. "If you were smart, you'd take a leaf from their book, girl. With their natural charm and decency and your beauty, you might go places."

"You can't talk to me like that, Jerry, and get away with it." Freda's voice too was sharp.

"You asked for it, Jerry started to move on but Freda caught the lapels of his jacket.

"You're not leaving me like this," she said.

"Let go! You're making a scene."

"Not nearly as much scene as you're making with that little Conch. You've carried your joke far enough now. I won't have you make me a laughing stock."

"I'm not. You're doing it yourself. You've been drinking too much."

"When is too much?"

"You should know." He started on, but Freda clung to his arm. At his car she slipped in as he opened the door, before he could stop her

Desperate Girl

"GET out of that car!" Jerry commanded. Freda's only reply was an insolent giggle. Jerry reached in and took hold of her, but Freda turned limp. Up to her old tricks, thought Jerry. He knew if he dragged her out of the car, she would merely fall in a heap at his feet, her evening gown billowing about her like a little mound of fluff.

Jerry had seen her do that when she was a child and her nurse tried to get her to do something or started to correct her. That had been a weapon she had used effectively all her life. It had always alarmed her gay, pretty mother to the point of giving in to anything.

"All right." His teeth gritted on the words. "You got in, now you stay in. If you dare get out when I get where I'm going, I'll knock you cold!"

Freda giggled again and leaned comfortably against him.

"Rave on, darling," she said easily. "I love it! Anything to hear your nice baritone. It's you who should sing, not Lenore. What say we make up a song and dance team, you and I, and start out under our own power?"

Jelly did not bother to reply. The car seemed to jump away under his hands. He drove with a sort of mad speed across town, swung into the driveway of the charming old house on Division Street. Before he could get out of the car and away, Freda was out, clutching his arm and hanging on.

"Whither thou goest, old dear. My name's not Ruth, but I'm saying that and meaning it."

"Let go!" he said in a low but fierce tone.

But Freda, tall as Jerry himself, and strong as swimming, dancing, skating and cycling had made her, hung on.

"I'll sock you!" he cried fiercely against her light filagree of laughter.

"Sock, darling!" she dared him. "I'll biff you one that will be the surprise party of your sweet young life."

Jerry knew that well she might. Freda was smart and slim and attractive, but no delicate flower, no clinging vine that needed a strong oak to twine around.

"Let go! Let go, I say!" he raged, struggling to free his arm. But Freda clung.

Jerry paused an instant in his struggling and looked at her intently. He had just lifted his hand to push her from him when Freda ducked into it, getting a slight blow on the cheek. Jerry stared in startled amazement. He had never even accidentally been in the position of striking a woman. He flushed with indignant shame. Freda had no business putting him in such a position. He was aware then of Freda's high scream piercing the air.

"You struck me!" There was fury in her voice.

"You asked for it," Jerry said. "I didn't intend to hit you, but it wouldn't be honest for me to say that I'm sorry."

"Beast!"

There were sounds as if a wildcat had been turned loose in the Quellerton gardens.

Strange Meeting

PAM had not been sleeping. She had been lying staring into the darkness, wondering how a man who looked and seemed as nice as Jerry Winthrope could be so cruely dishonest. She blamed herself for breaking her rule about the sons of rich winter people. She should have had nothing to do with Jerry.

She wondered vaguely how she was to face the future. Jerry had grown so into her life in the short time she had known him. There would be such an aching vacuum where he had been. Pam knew with certainty she loved Jerry.

The object of a bet, she thought on a wave of feeling that was almost bitter. That was what she had meant to Jerry. He had Freda, who meant something fine and serious to him; Freda who wore his ring and was probably laughing at her. They had probably all been laughing at her as she sat there at Antoine's right all through the supper, thinking she was being honored when really they were making her ridiculous.

She had meant nothing more than a bit of passing amusement to Jerry. And to her he had suddenly meant the difference between living and just existing. Now he must mean nothing. Pam was trying to look down the years and fathom their loneliness when she heard the car.

She listened, wondering if some new arrival in Key West, taking her large, white house for a hotel, as so often happened, was about to ring and ask for rooms. Then she heard unmistakable sounds of scuffling.

Something was happening out there in her shadowy garden. She listened intently.

Steps came softly along the hall. Juan, walking quietly trying not to waken Melita.

"What is it, Juan?" Pam asked softly through her partially opened door.

"I came to see if you were frightened, bambi," he said in his low, gentle voice. The fond, diminutive Juan and Melita had always used was soothing to the girl.

"It is the young man from the North," Juan continued. "I think you have no need to fear. Should I ask him to go, please?"

"No, Juan, go back to rest. You have served well. I am grateful." Unconsciously, when she spoke to him, Pam resorted to Juan's own quaintly formal speech. So much of her time had been spent with him and the gentle, bright-eyed Melita.

Pam pulled a housecoat over her pajamas and peered down from the window of her room to the silver enchantment of what a moment before had been her peacefully sleeping flower beds and lawn. Two figures struggled wildly there. Pam recognized their voices. She hurried down the winding stairway and out to where the two still struggled, oblivious of her.

"Jerry!" she called softly, but there was authority in her voice. "Jerry, please! My roses! Oh, my flowers! My flowers!" It was a wail as she saw Freda and Jerry dance wildly in her annual bed.

"Pam! I'm sorry!" Jerry was suddenly aware of her. He grabbed Freda and dragged her out of the garden to the wide walk.

"Why, Jerry!" Pam said in amazement. She peered through the dim light. "And Freda!"

Reports were that the choice lay between Lynn U. Stambaugh, of Fargo, N. D., and Edward Scheiberling, of Albany, N. Y., with Stambaugh, the reputed candidate of Legion "kingmakers", having the edge.

The Legion's defense program advocated intensified development of a complete system of federal highways, construction of international links to Alaska and Central America and provision for special access roads to defense industrial areas.

The convention opposed any "super-imposed department of national deefnse," set up a new standing labor relations committee to promote harmony between employers and workers, and urgde that pay schedules of the armed forces be increased commensurate with high living costs and increased wages in private industry.

Warren Players' Annual Enrollment Is Over The Top With Highest Figures in its History

At a most enthusiastic final-report dinner, held last evening in the Trinity Memorial parish house and attended by practically every campaign worker, the Warren Players reported the largest campaign total ever to have been attained. The final enrollment figures were 414 active and associate memberships and 308 season tickets.

Although, as in most cases, certain workers and some entire teams fell short of the mark, others did such excellent work that the final figures exceeded all expectations.

Mrs. Homer Fleming's team, with 66 memberships and 44 season tickets, led the field, although Miss Patsy McClure's reports of 87 memberships and 18 season tickets was a very close second.

It was also announced again that although season tickets are no longer available, associate and active memberships may be obtained throughout the year. A call to Miss Patricia McClure, 115 West Fifth avenue, or phone 2170, will bring a representative to discuss membership with interested persons.

It was also announced that with the exception of one character, Mrs. Edwin Borden has completely cast "Kind Lady," the first public production of the year of the Warren Players, to be presented October 23 and 24, and will put it into rehearsal on Friday of this week.

The Warren Players is deeply appreciative of the splendid support given the campaign and of the continued and growing interest shown in this excellent community organization.

The complete report of team captains follows:

Threat Brings Conference On Ship Walkouts

and one each at Boston and Mobile. They are owned by the Alcoa, Calmar, Robin and Waterman lines.

The Seafarers International Union (AFL) called a strike Saturday, demanding increases above the present $60-a-month war bonuses paid by some lines for trips to war-menaced waters.

Admiral Emory S. Land, Maritime Commission chairman, issued the arbitration ultimatum after the union had rejected his appeal to keep working while the controversy was ironed out.

AFL sailors on the Pacific coast were reported ready to join in the walkout today unless shipping companies met their demands.

A strike of AFL electricians continued at Kansas City, but the Missouri metropolis enjoyed regular light and power service nevertheless, after a four-hour blackout early yesterday. Skeleton crews of non-striking employes were operating the powerhouses of the Kansas City Light and Power Company. The strikers, however, voted last night to continue their walkout.

A second conference was called by the mediation board at Washington today in an effort to obtain an agreement for reopening a group of "captive" soft coal mines in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky, owned by major steel companies.

The 43,000 striking CIO United Mine Workers demand a union shop. A conference yesterday, attended by union representatives and steel company executives, failed to bring settlement of the dispute. However, John L. Lewis, UMW president, submitted a proposal for quick resumption of work. Terms of the proposal were not disclosed by the mediation board, but it was to be considered today.

A dispute over increased union dues and assessments continued to hold up production in a number of eastern Pennsylvania anthracite mines. Twenty thousand CIO-UMW members remained away from work at 44 collieries, although 4,000 men went back to the pits in the Wilkes-Barre area after the mine operators had agreed to quit deducting union assessments for the present time.

The International Association of Machinists (AFL) asked the Consolidated Aircraft Corporation at San Diego, Calif., for immediate wage increases for 27,000 employes to meet wage demands announced by eight other southern California aircraft factories.

The twin disclosures gave official notice that no half-way measures were being employed to enforce the policy which President Roosevelt enunciated in his speech a week ago, when he barred "defensive waters" to Axis raiders and ordered the navy to protect all shipping in those areas.

"The sole responsibility rests with Germany," Mr. Roosevelt asserted then. "There will be no shooting unless Germany continues to seek it."

Admiral Raeder already has placed himself on record that lease-lend cargoes would be attacked, regardless of the nationality of their escorts.

Raeder summed up by saying that "convoys mean shooting" and attributed authorship of that phrase to President Roosevelt.

(Press records of the day the expression first appeared attribute it not to Mr. Roosevelt but to an unnamed high authority here who said that the administration view was that convoys might result in shooting and that shooting was close to war.)

The announcement that convoys and all other means of protection were now in use was expected to kick up a furor of some duration in congress, where the subject already has caused much acrimonious debate.

When the lease-lend bill was under consideration, there were repeated attempts to write in a no-convoy prohibition, but administration forces defeated them all. As a concession, however, a proviso was inserted that "nothing in this act shall be construed to authorize or to permit the authorization of convoying vessels by naval vessels of the United States." Administration supporters pointed out at the time that this provision in no way circumscribed the power which the president held under the constitution as commander-in-chief of the navy.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"
Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Co-Styled in Corduroy

THE striking thing about stylish young suburbanites this autumn: He and She will look alike. At least their clothes will. This pair, for instance, wear slacks of the same fabric, a new velvety ribbed one of corduroy construction. Hers are a little warmer brown in color, of course, and His have a separate belt. Another important feature of such leisure clothes is that loose, easy comfort is the No. 1 consideration.

The world's oldest known footprint, found in the Devonian saidstone of Pennsylvania, is estimated to be 350,000,000 years old.

It has been found that it costs about 2 cents more a mile to operate a car of moderate size at 70 miles an hour than at 40.

James Willing To Be Umpire At Conference

to hold a special session and enact legislation before next year's spring primary.

Most observers have expressed the opinion that a special session, if any, would be called after the November election. Governor James has repeatedly announced he will not summon the lawmakers unless the house and senate can assure him they are in accord on a plan.

Should the 1942 primary arrive next spring without such re-districting legislation, all 33 members would be elected on a statewide basis—a situation leaders of both parties have said publicly they do not want.

Youngsville, Sept. 17.—Many members of the United Brethren church and friends greeted the new pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Charles McIntyre and the latter mother, Mrs. Tibbetson, at the church dinner given Monday evening in the church dining room. Flowers were used in decorations at the tables which were well filled with good things to eat.

Plummer Maurer acted as toastmaster and Kenneth Haight as leader of singing. The program opened with a group of songs. The Scripture was read and prayer offered by Mr. Carlson, a member from Garland. Mrs. James Thompson gave a humorous reading, "Elder Lambs' Donation."

Words of welcome were extended by Mrs. Edith Fierce as class leader; James Jones, speaking for the Sunday school; Miss Edna Sullivan, for the Otterbein Guild and Miss Phyllis Sullivan, representative of the Christian Endeavor.

A solo was sung by Miss Eva Goodwill.

Other church organizations were represented in greetings as follows: Alfred Thomas, speaking for the Men's Brotherhood; Mrs. Plummer Maurer, representing the Ladies Aid Society; Mrs. Edna Lundgren president of the Ladies Aid Society and Mrs. Kenneth Haight brought the greetings of organized choir, she being the leader of the choir. Each of these organizations not only spoke in welcome of the pastor but also pledge for their organizations loyalty to the church and to its pastor.

Rev. Charles McIntyre, in his response thanked these representatives for their cordial welcome and added a bit of humor to the program by some well chosen stories.

Several songs were introduced during the program and the closing song was "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

The second speaker was Miss Dorothy Wirt who gave a report of the recent national convention of occupational therapy in Washington which she attended.

Mrs. H. S. Canfield conducted the business session. An invitation to attend a conference at Cambridge Springs on Oct. 4th, was read and plans for attendance considered. The club voted to continue membership in the International Federation of B. P. W. clubs.

In winning the world championship Masters team-of-four contest this year, Waldemar von Zedtwitz and his teammates, Sam Fry, Jr., and Edward Hymes, Jr., of New York and A. M. Barnes of Atlanta, Ga., might be said to have settled a grudge that originated a year ago.

They were favored to defeat the 1940 winners, Bertram Lobnar, Jr., of New York, Sam Katz of Newark and A. R. Roth and O. J. Brotman or Washington, D. C. This year these two teams were the semi-finalists and the Von Zedtwitz team won by 3840 points, making up for the sting of last year's defeat.

Von Zedtwitz, generally conceded to be the world's outstanding player from the days of auction and through contract, claims that Culbertson was a better bridge player simply concentrating on the game. Carelessness is a definite weakness in any player's game. Today's hand demonstrates the care with which Von Zedtwitz conducts a hand down.

East won the opening lead with the ace of spades and returned the jack. Von Zedtwitz ♤South played the queen, and West let him hold the trick. A diamond was led and the queen fell to the ace. East cashed with the other diamond, and Von Zedtwitz held the trick with the ten in order to clear the hearts. On his heart lead, West played the eight, dummy the nine and East the ten. East exited with a low heart and the queen forced the ace.

Von Zedtwitz now took stock as inferred from East's risky heart exit that he held no more diamonds. That placed West with four diamonds originally, plus six heart cards that he held no more than one. So Von Zedtwitz backed his position by ruffing the queen of clubs, leading the eight and letting it ride when East played low. When it won, he claimed three more tricks with diamonds and clubs, making the contract.

A LAUGHING MATTER

GUY LOMBARDO'S FAVORITE STORY

A gentleman of distinguished bearing and demeanor stopped at a catering establishment on New York's Park avenue. "I want to order a cake," he said, "but this is somewhat of an unusual order. I would like this cake baked in shape of an 'S'. Price is no object, but I do insist that the cake be 'S' shaped."

The gentleman left his card and promised to return in two days. The caterer ordered a special "S" mold from a tinsmith and the cake was baked.

Two days later, the gentleman returned and the cake was shown him. "I'm terribly sorry," he mourned, "but you baked a round 'S'. I wanted a cake in the form of a block 'S.'"

The clerk apologized and asked him to return within two days. In the meantime, a block "S" mold was made and the cake baked.

"This cake is just what I wanted," the customer reported on the next visit, "except that you left the little curlique off the bottom of the 'S'. Will you please rectify it?"

Again, with dozens of apologies, he was asked to come back in two days. Again, the tinsmith was called—this time for a block "S" with a curlique.

The cake was baked and with bated breath, the caterer awaited the customer's return. The cake was shown to him and he examined it minutely. "This," he said, "is absolutely perfect. This is just what I wanted."

"Thank you so much sir," beamed the clerk, "and now, where shall we send it?"

"Send it?" echoed the customer. "Don't send it anywhere. I'll eat it here!"

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

I hate to be a kicker;
I always long for peace:
But the wheel that does the squeaking
Is the one that gets the grease.

It's nice to be a peaceful soul,
And not too hard to please,
But the dog that's always scratching
Is the one that kills the fleas.

I hate to be a kicker—
Means nothing in the show—
But the kickers in the chorus
Are the ones who get the dough.

Let me not put any notions
That are harmful in your head,
But the baby that keeps yelling
Is the baby that gets fed!

Women Slowly Taking on Work of Men in Factories in Pennsylvania

Harrisburg, Sept. 18.— (AP) — Working in gasoline service stations, on the farm and in factories, more and more Pennsylvania women are taking over jobs once held by men.

The Pennsylvania employment service reported today it found places in business for 47 percent more women this year than a year ago. So far in 1941 the service said, 66,105 women were placed in jobs, compared with 74,074 for the entire year of 1940.

A spokesman called attention to a downward trend noted since June but said the rate was expected to pick up during fall months. He gave these figures on placement of women.

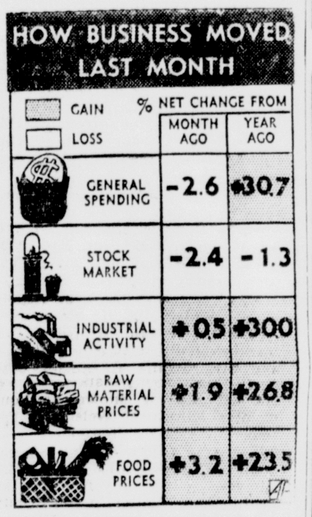
	1940	1941
June	5,569	8,894
July	4,992	8,620
August	5,481	8,361

"It's significant to point out," the spokesman said, "that the increase for women workers has almost exactly parallelled the total increase—both men and women."

At the same time, he explained the declining rate of placements recently might be due to the fact that the women were holding their jobs longer. Usually, he added, they work at one place for only a comparatively short time.

Inductions into the nation's armed forces was credited with opening numerous positions to women and others were added in factories busy with national defense work. "Urgent" calls for women workers have been sent out by factories specializing in precision instruments, for example, where they are preferred to male employes.

One gasoline station operator in Harrisburg reported business picked up when he hired a dozen attractive girls to replace men called into the army or who took defense jobs at higher pay.



Edson's Washington Column

(From Page Four)

Now you might well imagine that all this service of information costs money. It does. In all, there are 250 people working in this defense information service, and their payroll is $570,000 a year. On top of that add $30,000 a year for travel expense and $150,000 a year for miscellaneous expenses, and you have exactly three-quarters of a million dollars just to answer the questions of people who want to know what's going on in national defense.

It has been found that earthworms go as much as six feet below the surface of the ground.

OPPOSES REDUCTION

Richard J. Beamish, public utility commissioner, said today that his proposal for lower telephone rates for soldiers had been rejected by the Public Utility Commission by a three-to-two vote, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Harrisburg. Beamish wrote to Major General Edward Martin, commander of the 28th Division, suggesting that soldiers file complaints with the commission in order to start a case. PUC Chairman John Siggins, of Warren, who opposed the reduction, said he did so because there had been no complaints against the Bell Telephone Company rates.

Cardinals Win Two, Dodgers One, As Flag Race Tightens

Ninth Inning Rally Beats Bucs In Close Game With Leaders

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The favorite flippancy of baseball players is "I'd rather be lucky than good," and this little crumb of wisdom explains why the Brooklyn Dodgers still are in first place in the National League and seem destined to win the pennant.

They are fate's fair-haired boys even though their lead has shrunk like a dollar shirt in the last couple of days.

Brooklyn was on the verge of dropping its second straight game, trailing 3-1 going into the ninth inning at Pittsburgh yesterday. A loss coupled with a double victory by St. Louis over the Boston Braves would have transferred first place to the Cardinals by a tiny percentage margin.

But what happened? The Dodgers scored five runs in the ninth inning and beat the Pirates 6-4 to retain a one-game margin over the Cards, who whipped the Braves 6-1 and 3-2.

Brooklyn's ferocious flurry was started by little Augie Galan, whose batting average at the time was exactly .200 and who was waived to the minors last month by the Chicago Cubs to have the Dodgers toss him a life preserver.

He led off with a pinch double yesterday. Then the whole team batted around.

The Cardinals had an equally tough time taking their two victories from the Braves and must have been disheartened at seeing the Dodgers dance back out of the furnace at Pittsburgh.

In the first game Howard Pollet and Tom Earley waged a beautiful hurling duel until the eighth inning. The Braves scored first, a run in the fifth, and old Estel Crabtree, at 37 the miracle man of the Cards, tied the score with a homer in the seventh. Then in the eighth Buddy Hassett made an error with the bases loaded and St. Louis grabbed five runs and victory. In the second game Max Lanier and Jim Tobin gave another magnificent mound show—Lanier allowing five hits and Tobin six and the teams came up to the last of the ninth in a 2-2 deadlock. And Crabtree hammered out another home run!

The Cincinnati Reds bagged a doubleheader from the Phils 1-0 and 3-2. John Vander Meer pitched a three-hitter and fanned 11 in the first game. The Chicago Cubs climbed on the New York Giants 7-3.

In the American League the New York Yankees clipped the Chicago White Sox 5-3. The Boston Red Sox edged out Cleveland 3-2. Detroit downed the Philadelphia Athletics, although outhit 7-4, and Washington whipped the St. Louis Browns 9-8 in 10 innings.

83 Season Ducats Sold By Jackets During Campaign

The management of the Warren Red Jackets announced this morning that the sale of ten dollar season tickets closed with the gratifying total of 83 books of tickets sold.

Purchasers of season tickets since the previous report include Leroy Bidwell, John Carter, Harry Conarro, Floridin Company, Dr. William Graves, Helen Lauffenburger, Hyman Levinson, Al Michell, Homer Mohr, Floyd Newmaker, W. Harold Smith and Fred Weigel.

Holders of the season ducats are reminded that these tickets include seats in the reserved section at no extra charge, and any who have not paid for their tickets are asked to mail their checks to Lester Blair as promptly as possible.

Syndicate Forwards Offer for Phillies

Philadelphia, Sept. 18—(AP)—A syndicate headed by Jack Kelly, national director of the civilian training program, has submitted its offer to President Gerry Nugent for purchase of the National League Phillies and is ready to talk turkey.

"The next move is up to Mr. Nugent," declared Kelly. "We are willing to negotiate if he wants to sell the club. If he doesn't—well, that's another matter. We want to give Philadelphia a winning ball club and I think Gerry is ready to talk business."

Still skeptical, however, Nugent said at Cincinnati where the Phillies are playing that "newspapers have been selling the club every year but I haven't. I want to see those sprouts develop into blooms before I make any decision."

Kelly declined to make public the price his group offered for the tail-end outfit but previous reports were the syndicate was willing to pay $500,000 and then put $250,000 into rejuvenating the club. He said the offer was for all the club's stock, its franchise and players, free of encumberances.

The Silly Side of Sport

Dallas, Tex.—(AP)—Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer of Texas Christian University tells about the green freshman who reported for football.

"He was a big fellow and willing but so stiff he couldn't bend his knees when he got down. I pointed out that by bending more he could get much more power into his lifting charge—and I worked with him a long time to get the idea across."

"'But, Coach,' the kid said seriously, 'I can lift a bale of cotton this other way right now.'

"And what's more he could! I gave up."

DRAGONS HEAVY FAVORITES TO GAIN 22nd WIN OVER KANE HI WOLVES HERE THIS SATURDAY

One of the oldest series in local scholastic football history will see another chapter written in the record books Saturday afternoon on Russell Field when the Kane Wolves tangle with the Dragons in their thirty-first struggle down through the years.

The rivalry started back in 1905 when Kane topped the Blue and White 5 to 0 on a field goal and safety for their first of five victories from then on.

With a break then until 1913, the Dragons, then playing their first game against Kane under their new coach, ran up a score of 77 to 0 to more than square the count.

In 1914 the local schoolboys cashed in with a 57-0 score which must have been too much for the Wolves, for again the rivalry was halted until 1917, when Warren walloped their foes once more.

But since that time, when such names as George Frantz, Ralph Akers, Vic Offerle, Newmaker, Putnam, Akers, Sontag, Ingersoll, McConnell, Leroy and Donald Dove, and others were making history for Warren High, the games have become more even and four ties have been recorded in the past dozen years.

The other four Kane victories came in 1920 by a score of 20 to 9, 1921 with a 21-0 count, 1934 with a 2-0 score, and last season when Big Bill Hillman skirted right end in a sea of mud to score the only touchdown of the game and give the Wolves a 6-0 victory.

This Saturday the Dragons will be heavy favorites to gain vengeance for last year's loss, with the Wolves having lost a large part of their varsity squad, including Hillman, and not boasting the strength known in recent years.

It will be the first year for the Wolves under the new guidance of Coach Tom Drummond, who transferred from Sheffield just before the practice got under way this fall. With not too much material, Drummond is having to experiment with various lineups in an effort to find his strongest eleven.

STATE COLLEGE ELEVENS START WARS TONIGHT

BY TED MEIER

Philadelphia, Sept. 18—(AP)—The 1941 football season for Pennsylvania college elevens opens tonight with Geneva College invading Youngstown, O., for a game with the Ohioans. It is one of five listed for state teams this weekend.

The Beaver Falls aggregation, making the first start under a new coach, Alured "Slim" Ransome, will probably find the going tough, judging from Youngstown's record last year.

The first college game on a Pennsylvania gridiron is scheduled Friday night at Bethlehem when Davis-Elkins of West Virginia encounter Jud Timm's Moravian Greyhounds, a team that won six straight games in 1940, but was upset by Susquehanna in its final contest.

Duquesne, one of the state's major elevens, makes its 1941 debut at Pittsburgh on Saturday, meeting Waynesburg, always dangerous against the Dukes.

On Sunday St. Vincent of Latrobe, and St. Francis of Loretto, invade New York state for their opening tilts. The Vinnies meet Niagara University at Niagara Falls while the Red Flashes, winner of their last six 1940 games, encounter Canisius at Buffalo.

Three other games, Mansfield at Albright, Edinboro at Westminster and Blue Ridge at West Chester, were carded for this weekend but were cancelled because of the infantile paralysis danger.

CLEANING THE CUFF

Though we don't intend to commit treason, if local scholastic fans want a real treat of night football Friday evening the Bradford Owls promise to entertain them at Senior Field, Bradford, against the strong DuBois Beavers . . . the visitors, incidentally are favorites to win . . . And according to Johnny Nelson, Bradford Era sports editor and wizard with statistics and other records, the two teams haven't met in Bradford for thirteen years and back in 1928 the Beavers copped the tilt, 12-0 . . . Last year at DuBois the Owls took another on the chin in a sea of fog by a couple of touchdowns . . . Johnny states the second half was played when it was so foggy that no one could see the field . . . When the game was over the officials believed the score was 18-6 so that was accepted as official . . . But so much for Bradford High . . . Concerning their PONY League governors' cup winners, however, we understand several will be in faster loops next season unless Uncle Sam asks them to sign one of his contracts . . .

From what we gather some of the high school gridders aren't satisfied with the players we give mention to in our columns . . . We write about what we see, understand . . . And our advice would be to quit playing your football in the paper but concentrate on the game on the playing field . . . We do not mean to show favoritism toward any player individually, but those that do have an outstanding day or are exceptional deserve mention and regardless who you are, you'll get it . . . Satisfied now? . . . Over on the other corner where that establishment known as Harry's Gold Mine operates, we were involved in deep discussion over Sunday's coming attraction against the Red Jacket's, "Whitey" Fowle and his Pace A. C. . . . With Fowle as the general topic, Luke Noecker, local school teacher who hasn't been absent (well, at least not many times) from a Red Jacket game since he bought his first booster ticket four years ago, added his word of praise for the outstanding backfield ace by remarking "That Fowle is a real triple threater, he can punt, pass and run . . . oh, that guy does everything except pump up the ball!" . . . We'll wager he's done that too, Luke . . .

Though this scribe is gently holding onto the faintest hope that the Gas House Gang will win the National flag, here's a tip for local baseball fans from Harry Jennings of El Paso, well-known locally, who seems to be sure of the answer already . . . Jennings writes, "Except to start for Brooklyn September 22 to witness the entire series between the Dodgers and New York." . . . That gent has more confidence than even the Bums themselves . . . The city editor, an Elk in good standing, (they say), tells us that the club alleys are now open and that some of the boys are beginning to warm up their bowling arms . . . And El should know; he's secretary of the club . . . The new idea of selling season tickets instead of booster tickets has proved to be much more successful for the Jackets, and the same system will probably be used next year . . . Aside to Joe Massa . . . According to the Johnsonburg scribe the Ramblers could be better—much better. Their 6-0 win over Clarion wasn't especially impressive, but better days are expected to be ahead . . . All you'll need to beat them is eleven men and Hitler's recipe for a blitzkrieg!

Jackets Practising Nightly To Prepare For Strong Pace A. C.

Starting with a drill last night on Beaty Field, the Red Jackets prepare for their battle with the Pace Athletic Club and the one and only George "Whitey" Fowle, hailed as the best halfback in semi-pro football around western Pennsylvania, which will start at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon on Russell Field.

In an effort to polish up some of the rough spots in the Jacket play against Homewood and to make the local grid machine run smoother all the way around, Coaches "Doc" Reese and Bill Paris have scheduled rehearsals for tonight and tomorrow evening also.

The heavy local outfit, which may develop into one of the finest teams ever to represent Warren on the professional gridirons of this section of the state, realizes what it is up against in Sunday's fracas and is taking practice sessions seriously.

Every man, concentrating on his own position and attempting to make himself more valuable to the squad, knows that the coming show will be more than a party like their exhibition against Homewood. "Whitey" Fowle's club is big, strong, and owns a veteran lineup that is hardly changed from last year, when the team won eight, lost one, and tied one.

With Fowle coaching the Pacers, the Pittsburgh club has gained added skill, for the inimitable triple-threat backfield coach is equally as smart at mentoring as he is in making gains on the field.

The visitors will have with them Sunday one of the strongest forward walls in the tri-state area including two veteran and outstanding guards who are hard to match. Bill McGiffin and Jo O'Toole are the two players, capably supported by understudies Gib Burckart and Carl Raitano. All weighing about the same, the boys vary from 180 to 195 pounds.

Adding weight to the squad are Charles Steinmetz, 240 pound center, Walter Sobien and Mike Blazek, 275 and 230 pound tackles respectively. James Kelly and George Braun are towering and husky terminals, both weighing slightly over 200 pounds.

These boys make up a fair guarantee of protection for the lighter and speedy backs paced by Fowle himself. Ray Slayton, a keen shifty runner, is the lightest man on the squad at 160 pounds, and Anthony Cotton, valuable defensive back and outstanding blocker tips the scales at 180, being the heaviest backfield man on the team.

Fans are assured a real battle when the Pace A. C. comes to town this weekend to mix with the champs, and with popular prices prevailing, the crowd should increase from last week as the shows start getting better weekly now.

Sports Round-up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON JR.

New York, Sept. 18.—(The Special News Service—One of the biggest disappointments Leo Durocher has had lately was when Montreal got into the International League's final playoffs . . . Leo wanted to bring up Claude Corbitt from the farm to play shortstop the last couple of weeks . . . And to make it worse, Tony Cuccinello has been around watching the bums as an antidote for his experiences as Jersey City manager and has spent most of his spare time singing praises of Claude . . . After the past three days it seems that the Dodgers could make things a lot easier for themselves and the fans by playing the ninth inning first . . . One of the guys who stopped by to congratulate Johnny Allen on his swell pitching Tuesday was Paul Derringer, who was in line for a few congratulations himself . . . The report from the home front is that the Dodgers had to rent extra quarters to handle world series applications. We thought they'd tacked them right onto the price of tickets.

retained rather than handed over to a foreign government.

The secretary made the disclosure at a press conference after Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones announced yesterday that a reconstruction Finance Corporation subsidiary was buying $100,000,000 of minerals from Russia and paying for part of it in advance in order to provide the Russians with cash to pay for war supply purchases in this country.

Morgenthau said that on August 15 Russian Ambassador Constantine Oumansky informed him that the Russians were shipping $10,000,000 of gold to the United States in the next 90 days, but needed the money immediately to pay American manufacturers for goods already ordered.

With the approval of the State Department, Morgenthau related, he paid Oumansky the $10,000,000 in advance upon the ambassador's promise to deliver the equivalent of gold in 90 days.

Morgenthau said no further requests for Russian aid had come to the treasury and he could not predict what action would be taken on any future requests because, "you know, the treasury is on a day to day policy."

BUSY SESSION IS HELD BY LEADERS OF GIRL SCOUTS

The Warren County Girl Scout Leaders' Association held its first fall meeting at the Girl Scout office Tuesday evening. Mrs. Ann McManus, who was elected president of the club in June, presided for the first time.

The resignation of Mrs. H. H. Hesch as representative in the Warren County Girl Scout Council and treasurer of the organization, was received with regret. Mrs. Hesch will move to Youngstown, Ohio, in the near future. Mrs. Glenn Mickelson was elected council representative and Mrs. H. R. Henning, was elected treasurer.

Mrs. A. J. Weiler, member of the training committee of the council, reported that Miss Katherine Park, a member of the Girl Scout national staff, will be in Warren to give training the week of November 3. All leaders will be expected to be present at three meetings that week. A meeting of all leaders will follow a tureen supper on Monday November 3. Another general meeting will be held on Friday. In addition, Miss Park will meet in round table session with leaders of Brownie Scouts, intermediate Girl Scouts and Senior Girl Scouts.

Mrs. A. J. Weiler was appointed chairman of the program committee to arrange meetings for the association for the season of 1941-42. A social hour in honor of Mrs. Hesch followed the business meeting.

This drop, Ickes said, brought the aggregate decline in stocks for a two weeks period to 1,023,000 and compared with a drop of only 160,000 in stocks during the corresponding two weeks last year.

"Our east coast gasoline stocks now," he reported, "are about 2,700,000 barrels, of 12.5 per cent less than they were at the same time last year. East coast gasoline demand, on the other hand, during 1941 is about 11 per cent higher than during 1940."

New Orleans, La.—(AP)—Paul Allemandi, Tulane reserve football back, was left behind when Tulane journeyed to Chapel Hill to play North Carolina last fall. Listening to the radio with some friends, he heard the announcer suddenly blurt.

"Allemandi of Tulane goes off left tackle for six yards."

All through the game Allemandi heard how he was starring for dear old Tulane 1,000 miles away.

It developed that Bubber Ely, Tulane halfback, had torn his jersey and put on one with Allemandi's number. The announcer stuck to his program.

Bismarck, N. D.—(AP)—Rain had slowed play in the North Dakota amateur baseball tournament and as Ellendale and Leonard base-runners floundered in the mud an outraged fan shouted:

"Whaddaya gotta do, knock it over the fence to get to second?"

Noonan, Leonard outfielder, slammed a slow curve toward the fence. It apparently cleared it but finally landed in the playing field. Noonan got to second base.

But the Ellendale left fielder trotted in, conferred with the umpire, and Noonan was credited with a home run.

The ball had cleared the fence, hit a log on the other side, and bounced back over the barrier.

GERMANY'S SIEGE GUNS REPORTED BOMBARDING LENINGRAD

HITLER ARMY CUTS OFF CRIMEA FROM RUSSIAN MAINLAND

BULLETIN

Shanghai, Sept. 18—(AP)—A Domei report from Tokyo said tonight that Japan had protested to Moscow over alleged Russian mines floating in the Japan Sea.

By the Associated Press

German troops were reported to have invested a fortified park and taken by storm 119 pillboxes on the outskirts of Leningrad today, while Nazi siege guns bombarded the heart of the old czarist capital and prepared to shell the great Kronstadt naval base of the Russian Baltic fleet.

Other dark news for the Soviet cause came in advices reaching London, which said Adolf Hitler's invasion armies at the extreme southern end of the front apparently had cut off the entire Crimea peninsula.

Sebastopol, the big Russian naval base on the Black Sea, thus presumably was isolated from the U. S. S. R. mainland.

In the nearby Middle East, a series of developments indicated that Turkey and Bulgaria may soon become involved in the gigantic conflict.

The Vichy radio reported that because of mounting tension between Bulgaria and Russia, Bulgarian mobilization was going on "in all haste."

Simultaneously, advices reaching Ankara said the British were moving artillery and other military units northward through Syria toward the Turkish border in a constant stream.

Russia has sternly warned Bulgaria against serving as the base for new German military exploits.

London quarters also reported an Italian attempt to send warships flying the Bulgarian flag through the Turkish-controlled Dardanelles. The British ambassador at Ankara, it was said, "probably" had made representations to the Turkish government.

A highly-placed foreign observer at Ankara, recently returned from Rumania and Bulgaria, said Bulgaria had purchased six Italian destroyers in a "smoke screen" deal and had asked Turkey's permission to bring them through the Dardanelles into the Black Sea, where British and Russians suspected they might be used by the Axis.

Under the Montreux convention, no warship of a belligerent nation may pass through the Dardanelles. Although technically neutral, Bulgaria is dominated by Germany.

Helsinki dispatches declared Finnish troops had captured the city of Syvaeri (or Svirstroi) and blown up the tracks of the Leningrad-Murmansk railway, the major land route for supply of Red Army troops in the far north. Lake Onega and Arctic Sea approaches, however, would remain for Soviet military use even if all land communications were cut off.

Nazi warplanes operating from the Arctic to the Black Sea were credited with sinking three Soviet troop transports, a destroyer, two submarines and four torpedo-boats.

German commentators said the silencing of Kronstadt, which guards the sea gate to Leningrad, would permit Nazi warships to move up the Gulf of Finland and tage the siege-girt mertopolis with its 3,200,000 population under a devastating fire.

Countering Berlin's claims of success in the 89-day-old struggle, the Russians reported Red army troops defending Bryansk on the central front, had all but annihilated the mechanized forces of Col. Gen. Henz Guderian, the so-called "phantom general" of the French campaign.

A Soviet bulletin said Guderian,

GAS RATIONING TO BE CARRIED ON, ICKES SAYS

Filling Station Curfew To Be Continued in East Despite Finding of No Oil Shortage by Senate Investigators

STOCKS SHOW DROP

Washington, Sept. 18—(AP)—Secretary of Interior Ickes, the defense petroleum coordinator, declared today the rationing of gasoline and the filling station curfew would continue in the east, despite a finding by a senate committee that there was no oil shortage and that present restrictions should be lifted.

"To take off all restrictions now, and yell 'come and get it' Ickes declared, "would be stupid."

In his first press conference since the committee wound up its oil investigation September 11, the coordinator said the problem of an oil shortage did exist, and he cited figures to show that for the week ending September 13 gaso-

AIR-BORNE INFANTRY BATTALION PLANNED

The new battalion will be organized at Fort Benning, Ga., October 10 with an initial strength of 500 volunteers, including 50 from Fort Bragg, N. C., and 450 from Camps Croft, S. C., and Wheeler, Ga.

STRIKING ALLENTOWN PUPILS DISCIPLINED

Allentown, Sept. 18—(AP)—Several hundred students who played hookey from high school and stormed gates of the Allentown fair faced conditional suspension today with a warning it would be extended unless they appeared at school with their parents within 24 hours.

The school board voted the disciplinary action after the pupils rebelled against cancellation of the traditional three-day fair holiday as a precautionary measure because of the state's infantile paralysis outbreak.

Massing near the school with banners and placards, the students marched through the streets followed by police in cruiser cars. At the fairgrounds, officials estimated 500 boys and girls stormed the gates. There was no disorder.

OPERATORS WIN PRICE ADVANCE FOR HARD COAL

Administrator Leon Henderson Reverses Himself in Granting Increase; Will Not Tolerate Future Defiance

FOLLOWS CONFERENCE

Washington, Sept. 18—(AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson has approved the recent 15-cent-a-ton increase in anthracite prices but he warned producers that their defiance of his freezing order was an "unjustifiable act" which would "not be tolerated in the future".

He also obtained from the operators assurance that they would take no further action on price advances "without prior consultation and approval of the Office of Price Administration."

Abruptly reversing himself, Henderson last night accepted the increase after Pennsylvania's hard coal producers had defied his "maximum fair price" schedule setting the Aug. 15 prices as the ceiling for anthracite. His capitulation followed consultation with the producers.

Announcing the operators had submitted "full and comprehensive data supporting the price advance," Henderson revoked emergency price schedules issued last week and said the operators had agreed not to take further action on increases without prior consultation and approval of the Office of Price Administration.

The action junked the administrator's figure of $6.60 per ton for egg, stove and chestnut coal at the mine. The new figure, as set by the producers, is $6.75 per ton at the mine. That means domestic consumers must pay $11.75 a ton for egg, stove and chestnut coal and $10 for pea coal, the sizes most used for domestic purposes.

The coal operators in ignoring Henderson's schedules and boosting prices pointed out that their labor costs had gone up 12 per cent over last year while the price increases averaged only eight per cent.

Making it plain he was incensed by defiance of the producers, Henderson declared:

"I cannot condemn such arbitrary action too strongly. If followed by other industries it would threaten the whole basic structure of price stabilization."

Upon leaving the price administrator's office, President R. E. Taggart of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company said the operators had agreed to

FIFTH VICTIM DIES FROM AUTO INJURIES

Indiana, Pa., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Ten-year-old Margaret Sagal of Dixonville, Indiana county, died today, fifth victim of a highway accident that claimed the lives of her brother and sister.

The five were fatally injured and three others hurt when an automobile plowed into a pony wagon Monday night on a highway near Dixonville. Six of the children were riding on the wagon and two were pushing and pulling it.

Berlin, Sept. 18—(AP)—Several Chileans—the exact number undisclosed—have been arrested in Germany on suspicion of engaging in activities hostile to the Reich, authoritative sources announced today.

"We regret being compelled to take such measures," one informant asserted, "but reasons of state make them imperative. We are in war and it is essential to eliminate all elements intriguing against us."

Disclosure of the arrests was made in connection with a query concerning 27 Germans taken into custody in Chile.

Maritime Commission Warns Government Will Requisition Vessels Unless Arbitration Proceedings Start at Once

STRIKES CONTINUING

BULLETIN

New York, Sept. 18.—(AP)—A spokesman for the Seafarers International Union (AFL) said today that the union had rejected a government ultimatum to agree to arbitrate a war bonus dispute with the steamship companies and threatened a general strike of coastwise and intercoastal vessels of other companies.

By the Associated Press

A threat by the Maritime Commission to take over 11 strike-bound ships brought ship operators and the AFL Seafarers International Union into a hurried conference at Weehawken, N. J., today.

The commission's ultimatum, delivered last night, was that unless arbitration proceedings were started immediately the government would requisition the vessels which have been held at dock six days by the labor dispute. Capt. Granville Conway of the commission said he had set noon as the deadline for action on the disputants.

Seven of the vessels are in New York harbor, two in New Orleans

ELECTION WILL MARK CLOSE OF LEGION SESSION

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 18—(AP)—The American Legion's 23rd national convention ends today with election of a new commander to lead the organization in a defense program calling for support of President Roosevelt's foreign policies and granting of lease-lend aid to Soviet Russia.

A majority of 1,478 delegates decided late yesterday, after a stormy debate, that extension of the lease-lend act to help the Red army fight Nazi Germany would not be in conflict with the Legion's traditional stand against Communism.

The decision was reached on an 874 to 604 vote tabling a minority report of the convention's foreign relations committee, which sough to make clear that endorsement of the national administration's defense efforts did not include help for Russia.

Earlier the convention went on record favoring repeal of the neutrality law and use of American troops wherever needed to keep war away from American shores.

CONVOYS ARE USED BY NAVY

Navy Secretary Knox Discloses Atlantic Fleet Is Using All Methods to Protect British-Bound Cargoes; Hunt Is On for Axis Surface Raider Reported Operating in Pacific

WITHHOLDS DETAILS ON ESCORT SERVICE

Washington, Sept. 18.—(AP)—With convoys ploughing the Atlantic and a grim raider hunt on in the Pacific, the United States navy let actions do the talking back today to repeated Axis threats of dire consequences.

When Germany believed there was a possibility of convoys months ago, no less a person than Grand Admiral Erich Raeder openly warned the United States that the Reich would consider such a step "an open war act' and that the German navy would use its guns if necessary against American warships on such duty.

But all uncertainty on the question of American convoys was dissipated late yesterday when Navy Secretary Knox disclosed that the Atlantic fleet was using all methods, convoys included, to safeguard British-bound lease-lend cargoes in the 2,000 miles of the north Atlantic that are regarded as "defensive waters."

The navy chief thought it "unwise and indiscreet" to go into further details, and declined to answer a question as to whether the American escorts were turning over the protected cargoes to the royal navy somewhere off Iceland for the final 800-mile voyage to port.

At the same time, however, Knox revealed that the navy believed an Axis surface raider was operating near the Galapagos islands in the South Pacific and, while the fact had not been positively established, the hunt was on.

"We'll tell the world about it," Knox promised if any raider was caught.

JAMES WILLING TO BE UMPIRE AT CONFERENCE

Harrisburg, Sept. 18—(AP)—Governor James said today he would be "very glad to help" a legislative commission solve Pennsylvania's congressional re-apportionment problem if the members call him in as an umpire.

The commission of five senators and five repreesntatives was named yesterday to make another try at reducing the state's congressional districts from 34 to 33—a task which the legislature failed to accomplish in a six-months long session.

"If the members should want me to be an umpire and if my decision should be final, I'll be very happy to help", the governor told his press conference.

James added, however, that he had "no pre-conceived notions of a solution to the problem."

Leaders in both branches were outwardly optimistic at the chances of reaching an agreement, however, after the committee personnel was announced by Speaker Elmer Kilroy and Senator Charles H. Ealy, president pro tempore.

The ten men not only must accomplish what the 258 members of the legislature were unable to do in nearly seven months of deliberation—agree to re-apportion the state's representation in congress—but they must do it in time

Dunbar, Sept. 18—(AP)—Disappointed in love, Howard Hall, 20, a private in the anti-tank company of the 110th Infantry stationed at Indiantown Gap, killed himself with a shotgun yesterday, J. P. Burhans, deputy coroner of Fayette county, reported.

The youth's body was found in a wooded section several miles from his home here, Burhans said Hall left a note to his mother saying:

"I'm going to end it all. I asked a girl at camp to marry me and she refused."

FATAL ACCIDENT ON HIGHWAY JOB AT NO. WARREN

Laborer Employed by Tri-State Engineering Corp., Is Instantly Killed When He Steps In Front of Truck Near State Hospital

OPERATOR IS NOT HELD

The first fatal accident on the North Warren highway improvement project since the Tri-State Engineering Corp., of Washington, Pa., started work on the contract last April, occurred this morning about nine o'clock and resulted in the death of a laborer, Elmer E. Leach, aged 36 years, when he was struck by a truck operated by Perry Bishop, aged 23, of Union City, at the crossing just north of the power house at the Warren State Hospital.

Information given to Coroner Ed Lowrey and State Motor Policemen L. G. Fobes and K. W. Leep was employed with a group in connection with an excavating machine just south of the crossing. He had walked across the paved section of the highway for an implement and was on his way back when he observed the truck coming from the south. He evidently became confused and instead of stopping long enough to permit the machine to pass, he darted into the pavement in front of it. Before the driver could bring the large truck to a stop the right fender had struck him. The body was carried thirty feet before it rolled off to the left side of the road when the truck was brought to a stop.

Examination showed that the head was terribly crushed and a physician who made an examination later stated that death must have been instantaneous.

J. C. Trump, superintendent of the project, who was an eyewitness to the accident, stated that he saw Leech on the pavement opposite him, and fearing that he was going to attempt to cross in front of the truck, called a warning which the unfortunate man failed to heed. He said the truck was not more than 35 or 40 feet away from Leech, when he first observed it. He was of the opinion that Leech became confused.

Another eyewitness, Robert Payne, 25, of Kane, operator of the shovel, corroborated the statement made by Mr. Trump.

After the motor police and the coroner had completed the investigation at the scene of the accident, removal was made to the Lutz funeral home. Plans for the services will not be completed until after the arrival of relatives from West Virginia.

Mr. Leech had been residing in this section for the past five years, and had been employed on similar road jobs during that period. He was born in West Virginia February 25, 1905, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Leech, who are believed to reside at Rupert, W. Va. Also surviving are a brother, Charles Leech, at Rupert, and a sister, Mrs. Mattie Gibson, who lives near Pittsfield, this county. He had been making his home more re-

BLAIR COUNTY G. O. P. WILL HONOR TORRANCE

Altoona, Sept. 18—(AP)—National Republican Chairman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., and Governor Arthur H. James head a list of party leaders who will pay tribute to State Chairman James F. Torrance at a rally and testimonial dinner here tonight.

Members of the governor's cabinet, county leaders, Mrs. Caroline M. Huber, state vice-chairman and Frank C. Hilton, chairman of the Young Republicans, are other guests expected at the affair.

Torrance, a resident of Westmoreland county, became state chairman after managing James' gubernatorial campaign in 1938. He was re-elected for a second two-year term in 1940.

PRESIDENT ASKS FOR BIG FUND

Additional $5,985,000,000 Requested from Congress for Lease-end Program; Would Bring Total Allotment to Nearly 13 Billion Dollars for Assistance to Axis Enemies

SPEEDY ACTION ON BILL RECOMMENDED

Washington, Sept. 18—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress today for an additional $5,985,000,000 for the lend-lease program so that there might be "no interruption in the flow of aid to those countries whose defense is vital to our own."

In a letter to Speaker Rayburn, he recommended speedy action. The appropriation would bring the total of lease-lend funds to $12,985,000,000.

Mr. Roosevelt noted that of the original $7,000,000,000 last March $6,280,000,000 had been allocated.

He sent to Rayburn a letter from Budget Director Harold D. Smith which contained a proposed appropriation measure showing the projected breakdown of the $5,985,000,000.

The largest single item, reflecting a determination to supply vital needs for the enemies of the Axis, was $1,875,000,000 for "agricultural, industrial and other commodities and articles."

The next biggest of the subdivisions was $1,120,000,000 for ordnance and ordnance stores of various kinds, including armor and ammunition. For planes and aeronautical material, including engines, parts and accessories, it was suggested that $685,000,000 be laid down.

One stipulation contemplated in the draft of the legislation sent along by the budget bureau would forbid use of any of the lend-lease funds to pay any person who advocates, or belongs to an organization which advocates, the overthrow of the United States government "by force or violence."

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau disclosed today that United State financial aid to Russia began a month ago with a $10,000,000 treasury advance to the Soviets.

An affidavit would be considered prima facie evidence that the person making it was not such an advocate.

The measure also would let the president authorize contracts with foreign governments for the United States to supply them with defense articles, information or services, which would be paid by these governments. This would apply to any country whose defense the president deems vital to the defense of this nation.

If the chief executive considered any defense article covered by the act to be necessary for the defense of this country, it could be

NATION'S AIR POWER PRAISED AS THE BEST

New Orleans, Sept. 18—(AP)—Two high ranking U. S. air officials expressed the belief in an interview today that this nation's air power is great enough to withstand any assault.

They were Robert A. Lovett, assistant secretary of war for air, and Major General Henry H. Arnold, chief of the army air forces, who arrived here yesterday after an inspection trip of air facilities in the vital Louisiana-Texas maneuver area.

Both refused to be quoted directly on the United States' air power, but were emphatic in the belief that its equipment is as good as any in the world and that its personnel is superb.

Second and Third Armies Locked In Struggle Along 75-Mile Front

By the Associated Press

Armor-girded land forces of the Second and Third Armies locked today in a terrific struggle along a 75-mile wavering front from Alexandria, in central Louisiana, westward to Texas as the simulated warfare involving 500,000 men, reached its highest tempo since the start last Sunday.

Massed infantry, artillery, cavalry and armored forces drove through tangled underbrush and thick forests while overhead opposing air forces were engaged in support of their land forces.

Attacking with sudden fury, Lieut.-General Ben Lear's mobile Second Army drove from the north between two solidly entrenched flanks of Lieut.-General Walter Krueger's Third Army. The surprise move wedged heavily-armored Second Army forces deep into the heart of the numerically superior Third Army.

The air was filled with scattered dogfights as pursuit aircraft sought to protect bombers and observation planes circled the battleground in the greatest air power maneuver in the army's history.

The Second Army caught Third Army defenses unprepared in most places. The effectiveness of

Nation's Oil Industry Requested To Boost 100-Octane Gas Output

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 18—(AP)—Wright W. Gary, director of refining in the office of the petroleum coordinator for national defense, today called upon the nation's oil industry to produce all the 100-octane gasoline possible.

Known as a magic fuel, 100-octane gasoline gives airplanes greater speed, higher altitude and better maneuverability. Use of this fuel was credited by some British authorities with enabling England to beat off German air assaults in the summer of 1940.

Speaking before the National Petroleum Association at its annual convention, Gary said "the battle of democracy is being fought on many fronts and on all of these fronts 100-octane aviation gasoline must be supplied by our own refining industry."

All officers of the National Petroleum Association were re-elected today for another term. These included President N. H. Weber of Chicago, Executive Vice-President Charles L. Suhr of Oil City, Pa., First Vice-President H. A. Logan of Warren, Pa., Second Vice-President Otto Koch of Bradford, Pa., Recording Secretary Herbert G. Eaton of Warren, and Treasurer G. B. Plans for Y. W. C. A. Emancipation Campaign Progressing Splendidly

The presence of six young and attractive models to display the latest in fall wearing modes added immeasurably to the pleasure of the unusually large number who gathered in the Betty Lee Shop in Second avenue last evening for the autumn style showing.

Models seen in a variety of street, school and business apparel were the Misses Victoria Nelson, Betty McKinney, Marcella Wilson, Phyllis Leuthold, Mary Jane Gray and little Theresa Brindis.

Brown leaves contrasted effectively with the golden orange decorations of the store's interior and dominating the stage was a beautiful fan-shaped arrangement of flowers, done by The Flower Shop and harmonizing with additional flowers placed along the ledges. Many of the garments shown by the models were in the darker fall shades and these appeared to excellent advantage against the lighter background.

The center of the floor was cleared to provide space for the visitors and the entire sales personnel was present to extend greetings and assist the shop's many friends.

Windows were attractive with green panels against the light background and only a few garments were chosen for most effective display.

As the continuous style show was concluded, two of the models appeared with a large placard emphasizing the sale of defense stamps and bonds in the current "Retailers-for-Defense" observance and the large audience responded with a burst of sincere applause.

A number of public-minded citizens—men and women—are engaged at the present time in a variety of tasks in preparation for the campaign which will be launched next month for the Y. W. C. A. This campaign is being heralded as the "Y. W. C. A. Emancipation Campaign;" so-called because its purpose is to emancipate the local association from its burden of debt.

This debt has not been incurred by spending more money for carrying on its program of activities than it has received in the way of normal income and contributions received through the Community Chest. The debt was incurred at the time the Activities building was erected and equipped. There is a mortgage on the property, and each year a thousand dollars must be paid for interest charges. This money comes to the Y. W. C. A. as part of its share of the funds provided by the Community Chest. If the mortgage is cancelled, as it will be if the campaign is crowned with success, that one-thousand dollar item will be eliminated from the Chest budget.

In addition to the money the Y. W. C. A. must have to cancel the mortgage, a further sum is required to care for absolutely necessary repairs to buildings and equipment. The campaign is for $20,000. To apply on this total, the Y. W. C. A. has a promise of a gift of $5,535.00 a check for which will be forthcoming during the week of Oct. 13-18, provided a supreme effort is being made at that time to secure the total amount required. This leaves a balance of $14,465.00 to be raised by the Y. W. C. A. in its community-wide appeal. The number of representative men and women who have already identified themselves with the campaign is indicative of a whole-hearted and generous response by the community when the appeal is made.

Interest in Schools of Week Day Religious Education in Warren Is Believed to Set Record in State

The overwhelming response of Warren's young people to the opportunity to enroll in the Schools of Week Day Religious Education apparently has set a record in the history of this plan, at least in Pennsylvania. At an enthusiastic well attended meeting of the Warren Council of Week Day Religious Instruction at the Y. W. C. A. last evening it was announced that out of a total of 1300 High School students 1149 had enrolled, making a percentage of 87%. Towns and cities of which figures were available have ranged from fifty percent to eighty percent enrollment. Warren's 87%, which may reach 90% if some twenty-five enrollments which did not get in on Tuesday are admitted to the schools' roster, is apparently unprecedented.

As a result the original estimates of the number of classes and the number on the teaching staff of the seven schools has had to be revised upward, the community Protestant school composed of 12 churches in the central part of Warren being required to increase their teaching staff from an estimated ten or twelve to twenty-two teachers.

As the enrollments stood last evening the number attending each school will be as follows: First Lutheran and St. Paul's Lutheran, meeting at the First Lutheran—174. St. Joseph's Roman Catholic, at St. Joseph's School—162. Holy Redeemer Roman Catholic, at the church—99. Tephereth Israel Congregation, at the Synagogue—6. First Evangelical, its own sanctuary—21. Church of the Nazarene and Free Methodist Churches, at the Nazarene Church—71. Warren Community Protestant School including Calvary Baptist, Bethlehem Congregational, Emanuel Evangelical and Reformed, Epworth Methodist, First Baptist, First Methodist, First Presbyterian, Grace Methodist, Salem Evangelical, Salvation Army, Trinity Memorial Episcopal and United Brethren—Freshmen and Sophomores at First Methodist and Juniors and Seniors at the First Presbyterian.

If necessary some classes will be held in the First Baptist or the Trinity Memorial Episcopal churches. Enrollment in this school includes 198 Freshmen, 152 Sophomores, 145 Juniors and 121 Seniors, a total of 616.

The Rev. J. A. Davidson presided. Mrs. Guy F. McCloskey, secretary read the minutes of previous meetings.

The Rev. Dr. Thos. E. Colley reported for the curriculum committee, the Rev. E. Pinkney Wroth for the committee on organization, the Rev. Harold C. Warren for the committee on finance.

By vote of the Council it was decided that each school would manage its own finances for the conduct of its work. Spokesmen reporting for each school included: The Rev. Fr. M. E. Dailey for the Holy Redeemer; The Rev. J. C. Wygant for the 1st Evangelical; The Rev. Edw. K. Rogers for the First Lutheran-St. Paul's Lutheran; The Rev. Fr. Edward Jacobs for St. Joseph's Roman Catholic; Rabbi Hans Kronheim for Tepher-eth Israel Congregation; The Rev. Thos. E. Colley for the Community Protestant School of 12 cooperating churches.

By action of the Council, that body was opened to include representatives from churches outside of Warren boro whose young people attend Warren High school and Beaty school which it is understood includes seven adjoining townships.

Certain matters of credit allowances were clarified, it was voted to follow the school board's recommendation to allow one-half point each year, or a possible total of two credits for four years, for the one-hour per week course offered by the weekly religious education schools.

All schools will hold their first sessions promptly next Wednesday, September 24th at 10:40 a. m.

By action of the council it was recommended that the school authorities admit to enrollment a considerable group whose enrollment requests signed by parents or guardians were not filed before the deadline of Tuesday the 16th, suggesting that all registering before Saturday next, Sept. 20th be admitted.

Arrangements were also made to contact a number of church groups which have not so far nominated representatives to the council, which is made up of the pastor and two lay representatives for each church participating.

Following adjournment of the general council meeting, representatives for the twelve cooperating churches of the Warren Community Protestant School held a special meeting with their executive committee discussing final arrangements for the school, matters concerning teaching staff, curriculum, finance, etc., being considered.

All present expressed keen gratification over the remarkable response to this new community project for weekday religious education, which in a measure demonstrates that Warren young people reflect a high standard in the matter of character and religious awareness for the entire State of Pennsylvania.

FALL STYLE TRENDS PORTRAYED IN METZGER-WRIGHT OPENING

Last evening the women of Warren and the surrounding communities availed themselves of the opportunity to see the latest in fall fashions for the home and for themselves at the Metzger-Wright Company's fall opening.

The store was attractively decorated with fall flowers and attractive displays of fall merchandise. When one entered the store, one was immediately in an autumn atmosphere, with the beautiful fall fabrics draped on the center tables along with matching accessories. To the right, the newest shades of make-up were on display to show what one should wear with each of the fall colors. To the left, a table of hand engraved and hand colored prints, reproductions of 18th and 19th century prints, and the famous Les Roses prints by Pierree-Joseph Redoute, attracted much attention.

Toward the back of the store was a gorgeous array of fall linens, blankets and comforters, which made one wish to start buying at once. The new fall shoes were especially attractive, with the new bow treatment on the pumps, and soft leathers.

On the sceond floor, the wall paper and house furnishings were displayed in model rooms which were exceptionally attractive. The new large floral prints for drapery and slip covers were shown in furniture and window displays. Each display carried with it a coordination of colors with the complete room decorations, which ranged from deep tones to the palest pastels.

Of course the third floor was the center of attraction for many women with its displays of what the well dressed women and girls will be wearing in ready to wear lingerie and millinery. Black for evening and tones of brown and blue for afternoon and sports wear were much in evidence, with some green in the deep leaf tone. The hats were either small pill boxes or large off-the-face styles. The back drape was seen on many models.

Two of the displays were of special interest in the housewares department on the fourth floor. One was that of the new crystal ware and the other was of a new Steubenville pottery designed by Russell Wright, which was on display at the breakfast bar.

Each of the windows designed by Warren Clark, display manager of the store, brought exclamations of, "How Lovely" from those who viewed them. The two Liberty street windows were given over to evening wear, one with an areo blue evening dress with gold accessories and the other with a black crepe evening dress and gold accessories. Large spotlights silhouetted the figures on the background. On Second street, the first window was given over to a deep green costume suit with brown accessories, which gave the theme for the four windows carrying out the fall motif in hay, fall foliage and cattails. Each window carried out one fall color. The three last windows on Second street were more formal wear for daytime, each being especially spotlighted to bring out its beauty.

Everyone attending the Metzger-Wright's 45th fall opening felt that it was even lovelier than ever before and enjoyed meeting friends and being together for one more evening long to be remembered.

BOMBING OF CAIRO

DeWitt MacKenzie, Associated Press foreign writer, is of the opinion that "the Axis may have uncorked a volcano by bombing of Cairo—one of the Holy Cities of Islam—and causing heavy civilian casualties."

Commenting on the fact that the Egyptian government protested to Rome and Berlin, MacKenzie intimates the incident might easily be the forerunner of far-reaching developments.

"On the face of it," he says, "there seems to be so little for the Axis to gain, and so much it could lose, that the operation is difficult to explain satisfactorily. It looks almost like one of those errors of judgment which happen in war as well as in peace.

"The Italo-German brotherhood may be trying to frighten Egypt into demanding that the British withdraw altogether from the country, thus depriving Britain of a military base which is one of the foundation stones of imperial security. That would seem to be a forlorn hope, however, since the only thing which would budge the British out of Egypt would be force, and plenty of it.

"An alternative reason for the operation might be to tie British troops and equipment, especially warplanes to Egypt pending the outcome of Hitler's all-out offensive in the Russian Ukraine—a drive which probably contemplates an invasion of the Middle East, through Iran (Persia) if possible.

"As opposed to these possible gains, the Axis runs a chance of turning the entire great Moslem world against it, and that at a time when Germany and Italy badly need the support of the Moslems in view of the projected assault on the Middle East.

"Then, too, the bombing of the Holy City of Cairo opens up the possibility of British retaliation against Rome. London warned Mussolini last spring that the Eternal City would be attacked if either Cairo or Athens were bombed.

"At that time London said the greatest care would be taken to spare the Vatican City, but charged that the Italians were prepared to drop captured British bombs there the next day high Fascists in Rome characterized this charge as an incredible manifestation of infamous, slanderous and disloyal propaganda.

"Since the British have made this charge, however, one can hardly escape the thought that if the bombing of Cairo did tantalize the British into retaliating against Rome, and if a bomb did fall in Vatican City, then there likely would be a heavy reaction against the Allies. The reaction in America might have a decidedly adverse effect on our program of aid for Britain."

MacKenzie concludes by saying "I don't suggest that this was what caused the bombing of Cairo. It may be that the British will decide that the smart thing to do is not to exact any reprisal against Rome."

According to those in the know, locally at least, "Retailers-for-Defense Week" is proving an admirable success. Along with your purchases, don't forget to buy Defense Stamps or Defense Bonds. Patriotic objectives should not be lost sight of in this busy workaday world.

Dan Lytle, whose passing was recorded Wednesday, will always be remembered by a host of admirers, not only for his interest in athletics, but for his unusual ability both on the baseball diamond and the football field.

Every community, sooner or later it is expected, will be asked to stage drives for the collection of both scrap iron and razor blades. Warren may just as well get organized on both and get the jump on the others.

The tragic death of John J. Mead, Sr., 78, publisher of the Erie Times, brings to a sudden end a career which was identified with the progress of the lake city and with journalism generally.

And as one citizen was heard to remark, in the darkness at the corner of Liberty and Second Monday evening—"Hope all blackouts will be in fun!"

The official count, completed Thursday, shows that a lot of folks were nominated for office who didn't even know they were candidates.

• EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
Warren Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Washington, Sept. 18—National defense now takes in everything under the sun, but the funniest of all the letters that flood down on the Office of Production Management came the other day from a woman of 59 who, in the interests of doing her bit while the silk shortage was on, offered her legs for the modeling of cotton stockings—in place of Marlene Dietrich's.

That offer was declined with thanks. But there are other crazy letters about which something has to be done in a hurry. There was, for instance, an emergency request for formaldehyde. It seems that the stuff has all kinds of defense uses, but it also goes into embalming fluid. And one manufacturer of embalming fluid wrote in to tell the defense organization he wanted formaldehyde pretty quickly.

In the information division of OPM there is a section of 35 people who do nothing but answer questions that can't be referred to another section. Last February, it was getting only about 400 letters a week. Today the information division gets 8000 letters a week, and this does not include OPM's regular business mail.

Only a small part of this general information mail can be answered by form letters. When requests are made for certain publications or orders, then standard forms can be used, but there are only about 10 of these and a good many of them say "No" in various polite ways. They are used to answer the requests of people who want too much for nothing. But at least half of 4000 of these letters must be individually answered every week.

Mailing lists on OPM'S information sheets are tremendous. Four million pages of these information sheets are ground out from a battery of duplicating machines every month, and they go to special and select lists containing in all nearly 25,000 names of people or firms who are interested in some particular phase of the defense business. The standing order list alone has some 5000 names on it, and that takes in the manufacturers or dealers in some particular commodity like rubber or paper who have to be specially notified whenever any defense organization takes any action affecting the price or priorities or supply of whatever it is they're dealing in.

Then there is the list of nearly 8000 contract holders, ranging from the 4500 who have contracts of $1 to $50,000, up to the select list of 299 who have contracts of $1 million or more. They have to be kept informed of changes in priorities or methods of handling contracts, or any changes in regulations for doing business with the government. Also, they get special mailings of posters to put on their shop bulletin boards to keep up labor morale.

More than 4000 weekly newspapers and 1800 daily papers get direct mailings of defense information. Three hundred radio stations are given a similar news service, and about 500 people are kept advised of the radio programs that deal with national defense subjects.

Trade associations numbering 1350—organizations of furniture men, lumber men, household appliance people and the like are kept advised of what goes down their alleys.

Just keeping the big, sprawling complex, defense organization informed of what its own departments are doing is one of OPM's meanest jobs. One of its recent ideas was to condense all the news about all the defense activities, and circulate this digest to more than 600 of its top-flight executives.

OPM's labor activities are spread through a mailing list of nearly 1000 union officials, labor newspapers, labor contractors and personnel officers.

Mendoza Led Venezuela's Fight for Independence

A LEADING patriot in Venezuela's fight for independence was Dr. Cristobal Mendoza (1772-1839), statesman, jurist and scholar who was honored philatelically in the 1939 stamp above commemorating the 100th anniversary of his death.

He came from an eminent family, received a fine education and in his early life devoted himself to literary pursuits. He studied law and held a chair in philosophy at Merida.

He became governor of the province of Barinas and was noted as the protector of the Indians.

During Venezuela's fight for independence, which was declared in 1811 but not completely attained until 1823, he was a staunch supporter of the famous Venezuelan patriot, Simon Bolivar. It was Mendoza who called Bolivar the "liberator," a name which became famous throughout South America.

Mendoza was elected to the first federal congress of Venezuela and served with distinction.

A WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — If the United States were to go to war tomorrow, it would be the young men of World War I who would direct the military affairs of the country in World War II.

Ask the War Department for a list of top-ranking generals—the real brass hats—from Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, down. Thumb through the list of 19 and you'll find that every one of them served in World War I—12 of them overseas, and all of them with a temporary or permanent rank of major or higher.

Their average age today is 58 years (the two oldest are 62, the two youngest 52), which gave them an average age of 35 when the A. E. F. was pouring men and steel into the western front.

Nine of these ranking generals are graduates of West Point; three are graduates of Virginia Military Institute (including General Marshall); five first showed up on the army rolls as second lieutenants, without previous army training; two came up from the ranks.

BUT right about there all efforts at grouping must come to an end. It's not hard to look at the record and pick out our two most distinguished soldiers. They would be General Marshall, who as a colonel was in the thick of the Meuse-Argonne and St. Mihiel offensives and later was aide-de-camp to Gen. John J. Pershing; and Lt.-Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who has just come out of retirement to become commander of the armies in the Far East. General MacArthur was formerly chief of staff, was a Brigadier General at 38, has more citations for bravery and distinguished service than any man in the Army today. He represents the best Army tradition — a West Point graduate whose father was a lieutenant-general before him.

On the other hand, how about Lt.-Gen. Leslie J. McNair, who now is chief of the general headquarters? General McNair went to France with the "Fighting First" and so distinguished himself that he was moved up to general headquarters of the A. E. F. —a brigadier general at 35.

And how about Maj.-Gen. Henry H. "Hap" Arnold, chief of the Army Air Force? His first view of the World War battlefront came on an inspection tour after the Armistice was signed. A second lieutenant in 1911, General Arnold was considered by some of his associates "crazy as a loon" because he went into that idiotic branch of the signal corps, aviation.

He whooped around in an old Wright biplane crate that boasted a 40-horse power engine with two propellers driven by chains and sprockets. He soared nearly a mile and quarter into the blue to leave the world gasping over a new altitude record. He set the signal corps quivering with excitement by using radio telegraphy to report artillery fire. He organized the first air defense of the Panama Canal and from a swivel chair in Washington was one of the key men to "keep 'em flying" through the World War.

THIS could go on forever, but I'd like to skip the rest and tell about the two boys who came up the hard way. First there's Lt.-Gen. Ben Lear Jr., now in command of the second army and the same who got himself in print for chastising his "yoo-hoo" boys. Forty-three years ago, Ben Lear Jr. was an 18-year-old printer's devil on a Colorado newspaper. His father was in the composing room. Came the Spanish American war, and father and son enlisted. In less than a year the "First Colorado Infantry" had made proud history in the Philippines and one of its famous top sergeants was Ben Lear Jr. and favorite soldier in his platoon was Private Ben Lear Sr.

The other is Lt.-Gen. Walter Krueger, in command of the Third Army, with headquarters at San Antonio, Tex. Also a veteran of the Spanish American war, for which he enlisted while a student in Technical High School, Cincinnati, General Krueger has a record that is rare for high officers in this man's army.

Not only did he cover himself with blood and glory in the World War (ending it as chief of the A. E. F. infant tank corps in the thick of things at Chaumont), but if the United States were to go to war tomorrow—and that war should be against Germany—General Krueger would be carrying the American flag for a second time against his native land. He was born in West Prussia Jan. 26, 1881, and was eight years old before he set foot in the country for which he was to distinguish himself as a great soldier.

FOR THE LOVE OF PAM

By VIVIEN GREY

Chapter Nine

Pursuit

JERRY had missed Pam and was circling the room alone looking for her when Antoine came in.

"What are you on the prowl for?" Antoine asked.

"Looking for Pam," Jerry replied.

Antoine stopped beside Jerry. He was glad he had not been asked if he had seen Pam. As it was, he could keep Pam's confidence by merely saying nothing. Though something about that made him uncomfortable. It seemed not quite right.

"I don't know what your idea is about that girl, Jerry," he began thoughtfully, oppressed by the feeling he should do something.

And Jerry, tried to the limit of his endurance by Freda's willfulness, turned on him quickly.

"Must I tell you I love her?" he demanded sharply.

Antoine glanced at him, trying to understand. "Well, you don't have to love a highball to enjoy it, you know," he began hesitantly.

"It isn't that sort of thing."

Antoine wondered if that was the time to tell Jerry Pam had gone home crying. Or was it kinder to keep Pam's confidence? He was so in the dark. Besides, he was vaguely aware of something within himself that had been hurt. Pam was lovely. She was like a song. A love song. With her nearby he might compose some of the things he'd wanted to. The sweet, beautiful tranquillity of her—but Romero was looking at him. He'd better go up and take the baton. He was glad Jerry meant right, anyhow.

Without speaking again, Antoine moved away. Jerry had forgotten him and was searching the place. Freda caught sight of him.

"You look wild-eyed," she said, and stopped him as he would have passed her. "Dance with me, darling. I'm bored limp. Besides, I've quite forgotten and forgiven your foolishness of a moment ago. I'm a smart girl, Jerry. I know there's no futility like being bitter. And so, with me, water under the bridge is just—well, water under the bridge!"

Jerry's answer was to ask if Freda had seen Pam.

"No, darling, I haven't seen your island flower! Maybe she's out buggy-dashing with some local swain!"

"Don't be like that!" Jerry exclaimed sharply. "This isn't the moment for wise-cracks. Besides, that mood isn't becoming to you."

"Is my darling worried about the little Conch?"

"If I didn't know it was Cuba-libre talking, I'd slap you for that, Freda!" Jerry's voice was shaking with anger. "And don't say Conch in that tone of voice. Some of the nicest people on this island, aristocrats in more ways than one, are Conch." Jerry paused a moment to look intently at Freda. "If you were smart, you'd take a leaf from their book, girl. With their natural charm and decency and your beauty, you might go places."

"You can't talk to me like that, Jerry, and get away with it." Freda's voice too was sharp.

"You asked for it, Jerry started to move on but Freda caught the lapels of his jacket.

"You're not leaving me like this," she said.

"Let go! You're making a scene."

"Not nearly as much scene as you're making with that little Conch. You've carried your joke far enough now. I won't have you make me a laughing stock."

"I'm not. You're doing it yourself. You've been drinking too much."

"When is too much?"

"You should know." He started on, but Freda clung to his arm. At his car she slipped in as he opened the door, before he could stop her

Desperate Girl

"GET out of that car!" Jerry commanded. Freda's only reply was an insolent giggle. Jerry reached in and took hold of her, but Freda turned limp. Up to her old tricks, thought Jerry. He knew if he dragged her out of the car, she would merely fall in a heap at his feet, her evening gown billowing about her like a little mound of fluff.

Jerry had seen her do that when she was a child and her nurse tried to get her to do something or started to correct her. That had been a weapon she had used effectively all her life. It had always alarmed her gay, pretty mother to the point of giving in to anything.

"All right." His teeth gritted on the words. "You got in, now you stay in. If you dare get out when I get where I'm going, I'll knock you cold!"

Freda giggled again and leaned comfortably against him.

"Rave on, darling," she said easily. "I love it! Anything to hear your nice baritone. It's you who should sing, not Lenore. What say we make up a song and dance team, you and I, and start out under our own power?"

Jelly did not bother to reply. The car seemed to jump away under his hands. He drove with a sort of mad speed across town, swung into the driveway of the charming old house on Division Street. Before he could get out of the car and away, Freda was out, clutching his arm and hanging on.

"Whither thou goest, old dear. My name's not Ruth, but I'm saying that and meaning it."

"Let go!" he said in a low but fierce tone.

But Freda, tall as Jerry himself, and strong as swimming, dancing, skating and cycling had made her, hung on.

"I'll sock you!" he cried fiercely against her light filagree of laughter.

"Sock, darling!" she dared him. "I'll biff you one that will be the surprise party of your sweet young life."

Jerry knew that well she might. Freda was smart and slim and attractive, but no delicate flower, no clinging vine that needed a strong oak to twine around.

"Let go! Let go, I say!" he raged, struggling to free his arm. But Freda clung.

Jerry paused an instant in his struggling and looked at her intently. He had just lifted his hand to push her from him when Freda ducked into it, getting a slight blow on the cheek. Jerry stared in startled amazement. He had never even accidentally been in the position of striking a woman. He flushed with indignant shame. Freda had no business putting him in such a position. He was aware then of Freda's high scream piercing the air.

"You struck me!" There was fury in her voice.

"You asked for it," Jerry said. "I didn't intend to hit you, but it wouldn't be honest for me to say that I'm sorry."

"Beast!"

There were sounds as if a wildcat had been turned loose in the Quellerton gardens.

Strange Meeting

PAM had not been sleeping. She had been lying staring into the darkness, wondering how a man who looked and seemed as nice as Jerry Winthrope could be so cruely dishonest. She blamed herself for breaking her rule about the sons of rich winter people. She should have had nothing to do with Jerry.

She wondered vaguely how she was to face the future. Jerry had grown so into her life in the short time she had known him. There would be such an aching vacuum where he had been. Pam knew with certainty she loved Jerry.

The object of a bet, she thought on a wave of feeling that was almost bitter. That was what she had meant to Jerry. He had Freda, who meant something fine and serious to him; Freda who wore his ring and was probably laughing at her. They had probably all been laughing at her as she sat there at Antoine's right all through the supper, thinking she was being honored when really they were making her ridiculous.

She had meant nothing more than a bit of passing amusement to Jerry. And to her he had suddenly meant the difference between living and just existing. Now he must mean nothing. Pam was trying to look down the years and fathom their loneliness when she heard the car.

She listened, wondering if some new arrival in Key West, taking her large, white house for a hotel, as so often happened, was about to ring and ask for rooms. Then she heard unmistakable sounds of scuffling.

Something was happening out there in her shadowy garden. She listened intently.

Steps came softly along the hall. Juan, walking quietly trying not to waken Melita.

"What is it, Juan?" Pam asked softly through her partially opened door.

"I came to see if you were frightened, bambi," he said in his low, gentle voice. The fond, diminutive Juan and Melita had always used was soothing to the girl.

"It is the young man from the North," Juan continued. "I think you have no need to fear. Should I ask him to go, please?"

"No, Juan, go back to rest. You have served well. I am grateful." Unconsciously, when she spoke to him, Pam resorted to Juan's own quaintly formal speech. So much of her time had been spent with him and the gentle, bright-eyed Melita.

Pam pulled a housecoat over her pajamas and peered down from the window of her room to the silver enchantment of what a moment before had been her peacefully sleeping flower beds and lawn. Two figures struggled wildly there. Pam recognized their voices. She hurried down the winding stairway and out to where the two still struggled, oblivious of her.

"Jerry!" she called softly, but there was authority in her voice. "Jerry, please! My roses! Oh, my flowers! My flowers!" It was a wail as she saw Freda and Jerry dance wildly in her annual bed.

"Pam! I'm sorry!" Jerry was suddenly aware of her. He grabbed Freda and dragged her out of the garden to the wide walk.

"Why, Jerry!" Pam said in amazement. She peered through the dim light. "And Freda!"

Warren Players' Annual Enrollment Is Over The Top With Highest Figures in its History

At a most enthusiastic final-report dinner, held last evening in the Trinity Memorial parish house and attended by practically every campaign worker, the Warren Players reported the largest campaign total ever to have been attained. The final enrollment figures were 414 active and associate memberships and 308 season tickets.

Although, as in most cases, certain workers and some entire teams fell short of the mark, others did such excellent work that the final figures exceeded all expectations.

Mrs. Homer Fleming's team, with 66 memberships and 44 season tickets, led the field, although Miss Patsy McClure's reports of 87 memberships and 18 season tickets was a very close second.

It was also announced again that although season tickets are no longer available, associate and active memberships may be obtained throughout the year. A call to Miss Patricia McClure, 115 West Fifth avenue, or phone 2170, will bring a representative to discuss membership with interested persons.

It was also announced that with the exception of one character, Mrs. Edwin Borden has completely cast "Kind Lady," the first public production of the year of the Warren Players, to be presented October 23 and 24, and will put it into rehearsal on Friday of this week.

The Warren Players is deeply appreciative of the splendid support given the campaign and of the continued and growing interest shown in this excellent community organization.

COUNTY CONVENTION AT SUGAR GROVE

The 67th annual convention of the Warren County W. C. T. U. will be held next Tuesday, September 23, in the Sugar Grove Presbyterian church. The convention speaker will be Mrs. H. W. Sloan, of Fredonia, N. Y., who is national director of religious education.

The first session will begin at ten o'clock, daylight saving time, with Mrs. Mabel E. Dallas, county president, in charge. All members and friends are urged to be in attendance.

Gracious

For dining in graciousness, Greer Garson displays an Adrian original which is a film forerunner of those that will soon be available to American women everywhere. The black crepe molds the body, is slit at the hemline. Rich gold beading, emphasizing the deep armholes, is deftly repeated at the cuffs.

Reports were that the choice lay between Lynn U. Stambaugh, of Fargo, N. D., and Edward Scheiberling, of Albany, N. Y., with Stambaugh, the reputed candidate of Legion "kingmakers", having the edge.

The Legion's defense program advocated intensified development of a complete system of federal highways, construction of international links to Alaska and Central America and provision for special access roads to defense industrial areas.

The convention opposed any "super-imposed department of national deefnse," set up a new standing labor relations committee to promote harmony between employers and workers, and urgde that pay schedules of the armed forces be increased commensurate with high living costs and increased wages in private industry.

Threat Brings Conference On Ship Walkouts

and one each at Boston and Mobile. They are owned by the Alcoa, Calmar, Robin and Waterman lines.

The Seafarers International Union (AFL) called a strike Saturday, demanding increases above the present $60-a-month war bonuses paid by some lines for trips to war-menaced waters.

Admiral Emory S. Land, Maritime Commission chairman, issued the arbitration ultimatum after the union had rejected his appeal to keep working while the controversy was ironed out.

AFL sailors on the Pacific coast were reported ready to join in the walkout today unless shipping companies met their demands.

A strike of AFL electricians continued at Kansas City, but the Missouri metropolis enjoyed regular light and power service nevertheless, after a four-hour blackout early yesterday. Skeleton crews of non-striking employes were operating the powerhouses of the Kansas City Light and Power Company. The strikers, however, voted last night to continue their walkout.

A second conference was called by the mediation board at Washington today in an effort to obtain an agreement for reopening a group of "captive" soft coal mines in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky, owned by major steel companies.

The 43,000 striking CIO United Mine Workers demand a union shop. A conference yesterday, attended by union representatives and steel company executives, failed to bring settlement of the dispute. However, John L. Lewis, UMW president, submitted a proposal for quick resumption of work. Terms of the proposal were not disclosed by the mediation board, but it was to be considered today.

A dispute over increased union dues and assessments continued to hold up production in a number of eastern Pennsylvania anthracite mines. Twenty thousand CIO-UMW members remained away from work at 44 collieries, although 4,000 men went back to the pits in the Wilkes-Barre area after the mine operators had agreed to quit deducting union assessments for the present time.

The International Association of Machinists (AFL) asked the Consolidated Aircraft Corporation at San Diego, Calif., for immediate wage increases for 27,000 employes to meet wage demands announced by eight other southern California aircraft factories.

Convoys Are Used by Navy

The twin disclosures gave official notice that no half-way measures were being employed to enforce the policy which President Roosevelt enunciated in his speech a week ago, when he barred "defensive waters" to Axis raiders and ordered the navy to protect all shipping in those areas.

"The sole responsibility rests with Germany," Mr. Roosevelt asserted then. "There will be no shooting unless Germany continues to seek it."

Admiral Raeder already has placed himself on record that lease-lend cargoes would be attacked, regardless of the nationality of their escorts.

Raeder summed up by saying that "convoys mean shooting" and attributed authorship of that phrase to President Roosevelt.

(Press records of the day the expression first appeared attribute it not to Mr. Roosevelt but to an unnamed high authority here who said that the administration view was that convoys might result in shooting and that shooting was close to war.)

The announcement that convoys and all other means of protection were now in use was expected to kick up a furor of some duration in congress, where the subject already has caused much acrimonious debate.

When the lease-lend bill was under consideration, there were repeated attempts to write in a no-convoy prohibition, but administration forces defeated them all. As a concession, however, a proviso was inserted that "nothing in this act shall be construed to authorize or to permit the authorization of convoying vessels by naval vessels of the United States." Administration supporters pointed out at the time that this provision in no way circumscribed the power which the president held under the constitution as commander-in-chief of the navy.

Co-Styled in Corduroy

THE striking thing about stylish young suburbanites this autumn: He and She will look alike. At least their clothes will. This pair, for instance, wear slacks of the same fabric, a new velvety ribbed one of corduroy construction. Hers are a little warmer brown in color, of course, and His have a separate belt. Another important feature of such leisure clothes is that loose, easy comfort is the No. 1 consideration.

to hold a special session and enact legislation before next year's spring primary.

Most observers have expressed the opinion that a special session, if any, would be called after the November election. Governor James has repeatedly announced he will not summon the lawmakers unless the house and senate can assure him they are in accord on a plan.

Should the 1942 primary arrive next spring without such re-districting legislation, all 33 members would be elected on a statewide basis—a situation leaders of both parties have said publicly they do not want.

GREET PASTOR OF U. B. CHURCH AT YOUNGSVILLE

Youngsville, Sept. 17—Many members of the United Brethren church and friends greeted their new pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Charles McIntyre and Dorothy, mother, Mrs. Tillotson, at the church dinner given Monday evening in the church dining room. Flowers were used in decorations at the tables which were well filled with good things to eat.

Plummer Mourer acted as toastmaster and Kenneth Haight as leader of singing. The program opened with a group of songs. The Scripture was read and prayer offered by Mr. Carlson, a member from Garland. Mrs. James Thompson gave a humorous reading, "Elder Lamb's Donation."

Words of welcome were extended by Mrs. Edith Pierce as class leader; James Jones, superintendent of the Sunday school; Miss Edna Sullivan, for the Otterbein Guild and Miss Phyllis Sullivan, representative of the Christian Endeavor.

A solo was sung by Miss Eva Goodwill.

Other church organizations were represented in greetings as following: Alfred Thomas, speaking for the Men's Brotherhood; Mrs. Plummer Mourer, representing the Ladies Aid Society; Mrs. Lillian Lundgren, president of the Ladies Aid Society and Mrs. Kenneth Haight brought the greetings of the organized choir, she being the leader of the choir. Each of these organizations made timely words welcome of the new pastor but pledge for their support in their efforts to the church and to its plans.

Rev. Charles McIntyre, in his response thanked these representatives for their cordial welcome and added a bit of humor to the program by some well chosen stories.

Several songs were introduced during the program and the closing song was "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

B. P. W. MEETING

Youngsville Business and Professional Woman's Club following their summer plan of meeting in homes, met Monday evening in regular session at the National Forge club rooms. The general social tonic for the U. S. Defense. The September topic which was conducted under the direction of Miss Goldia Hill was "Education and Defense for American Democracy."

Following a song period under the leadership of Miss Sara Orso Beer, a very interesting talk was given by Paul Gotts, superintendent of Youngsville schools, in front of Youngsville club. So Von Zedtwitz backed his conviction that coaching the queen of clubs leading the eight and letting it ride when East played the nine. When it won, he claimed three more tricks with diamonds and clubs, making the contract.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson's son, Harold Peterson is in military training in the south.

A very fine talk on the subject "Democracy and Education" was read by Superintendent Paul Gotts, at the morning service of the Methodist church.

Plans are being made for a Methodist fellowship dinner at the tureen type, to be held in the church dining room on Friday evening, Sept. 26, at 6:30 p. m. Ladies, members and friends will be given opportunity to express their welcome to Rev. and Mrs. Dwight Jack and Miss Dorothy Jack, who will minister to the occupants of the Youngsville Methodist parsonage.

Miss Lillian Swanson, who has been ill is better this week and Grace Coffey continues improving.

Mr. and Mrs. George Peterson accompanied by Mrs. Ethel Peterson returned from a week's visit in Reading and Hamburg. She also visited the Townville Fair.

In winning the world championship Masters team-of-four contest this year, Mr. Sherman von Zedtwitz and his teammates, Sam Fry, Jr., and Edward Hymes, Jr., of New York, and A. M. Barnes of Atlanta, Ga., might be said to have settled a grudge that originated a year ago.

They were favored to defeat the 1940 winners, Bertram Lebhar, Jr., of New York, Sam Katz of Newark and A. R. Roth and O. J. Brenman of Washington, D. C. This year these two teams met in the semi-finals and the former won by 3840 points, making up for the sting of last year's defeat.

Von Zedtwitz, generally conceded to be the world's outstanding player from the days of auction and through contract, claims that anyone can play better bridge by simply concentrating on the game. Carelessness is a definite weakness in any player's game. Today's hand demonstrates the care with which Von Zedtwitz counts a hand down.

East won the opening lead with the ace of spades and returned the jack. Von Zedtwitz (South) played the queen, and West, letting hold the trick. A diamond was led and the queen fell to the ace. East cashed with the other diamond, and Von Zedtwitz held the trick with the ten in order to start the hearts. On his heart lead, West played the eight, dummy the nine and East the ten. East cashed with a low heart and the queen forced the ace.

Von Zedtwitz now took stock. He inferred from East's risky heart exit that he held no more diamonds. That placed West with four diamonds originally, plus six spades and two hearts. Hence West could have no more than one club. So Von Zedtwitz backed his conviction by cashing the queen of clubs, leading the eight and letting it ride when East played the nine. When it won, he claimed three more tricks with diamonds and clubs, making the contract.

A LAUGHING MATTER

GUY LOMBARDO'S FAVORITE STORY

A gentleman of distinguished bearing and demeanor stopped at a catering establishment on New York's Park avenue. "I want to order a cake," he said, "but this is somewhat of an unusual order. I would like this cake baked in shape of an 'S'. Price is no object, but I do insist that the cake be 'S' shaped."

The gentleman left his card and promised to return in two days. The caterer ordered a special "S" mold from a tinsmith and the cake was baked.

Two days later, the gentleman returned and the cake was shown him. "I'm terribly sorry," he mourned, "but you baked a round 'S'. I wanted a cake in the form of a block 'S.'"

The clerk apologized and asked him to return within two days. In the meantime, a block "S" mold was made and the cake baked.

"This cake is just what I wanted," the customer reported on the next visit, "except that you left the little curlique off the bottom of the 'S'. Will you please rectify it?"

Again, with dozens of apologies, he was asked to come back in two days. Again, the tinsmith was called—this time for a block "S" with a curlique.

The cake was baked and with bated breath, the caterer awaited the customer's return. The cake was shown to him and he examined it minutely. "This," he said, "is absolutely perfect. This is just what I wanted."

"Thank you so much sir," beamed the clerk, "and now, where shall we send it?"

"Send it?" echoed the customer. "Don't send it anywhere. I'll eat it here!"

"New an' so EASY —try 'em, folks" says Aunt Jenny

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

I hate to be a kicker;
I always long for peace:
But the wheel that does the squeaking
Is the one that gets the grease.

It's nice to be a peaceful soul,
And not too hard to please,
But the dog that's always scratching
Is the one that kills the fleas.

I hate to be a kicker—
Means nothing in the show—
But the kickers in the chorus
Are the ones who get the dough.

Let me not put any notions
That are harmful in your head,
But the baby that keeps yelling
Is the baby that gets fed!

Women Slowly Taking on Work of Men in Factories in Pennsylvania

Harrisburg, Sept. 18.— (AP) — Working in gasoline service stations, on the farm and in factories, more and more Pennsylvania women are taking over jobs once held by men.

The Pennsylvania employment service reported today it found places in business for 47 percent more women this year than a year ago. So far in 1941 the service said, 66,105 women were placed in jobs, compared with 74,074 for the entire year of 1940.

A spokesman called attention to a downward trend noted since June but said the rate was expected to pick up during fall months. He gave these figures on placement of women.

	1940	1941
June	5,569	8,894
July	4,992	8,620
August	5,481	8,361

"It's significant to point out," the spokesman said, "that the increase for women workers has almost exactly parallelled the total increase—both men and women."

At the same time, he explained the declining rate of placements recently might be due to the fact that the women were holding their jobs longer. Usually, he added, they work at one place for only a comparatively short time.

Inductions into the nation's armed forces was credited with opening numerous positions to women and others were added in factories busy with national defense work. "Urgent" calls for women workers have been sent out by factories specializing in precision instruments, for example, where they are preferred to male employes.

One gasoline station operator in Harrisburg reported business picked up when he hired a dozen attractive girls to replace men called into the army or who took defense jobs at higher pay.

Now you might well imagine that all this service of information costs money. It does. In all, there are 250 people working in this defense information service, and their payroll is $570,000 a year. On top of that add $30,000 a year for travel expense and $150,000 a year for miscellaneous expenses, and you have exactly three-quarters of a million dollars just to answer the questions of people who want to know what's going on in national defense.

OPPOSES REDUCTION

Richard J. Beamish, public utility commissioner, said today that his proposal for lower telephone rates for soldiers had been rejected by the Public Utility Commission by a three-to-two vote, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Harrisburg. Beamish wrote to Major General Edward Martin, commander of the 28th Division, suggesting that soldiers file complaints with the commission in order to start a case. PUC Chairman John Siggins, of Warren, who opposed the reduction, said he did so because there had been no complaints against the Bell Telephone Company rates.

Cardinals Win Two, Dodgers One, As Flag Race Tightens

Ninth Inning Rally Beats Bucs In Close Game With Leaders

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The favorite flippancy of baseball players is "I'd rather be lucky than good," and this little crumb of wisdom explains why the Brooklyn Dodgers still are in first place in the National League and seem destined to win the pennant.

They are fate's fair-haired boys even though their lead has shrunk like a dollar shirt in the last couple of days.

Brooklyn was on the verge of dropping its second straight game, trailing 3-1 going into the ninth inning at Pittsburgh yesterday. A loss coupled with a double victory by St. Louis over the Boston Braves would have transferred first place to the Cardinals by a tiny percentage margin.

But what happened? The Dodgers scored five runs in the ninth inning and beat the Pirates 6-4 to retain a one-game margin over the Cards, who whipped the Braves 6-1 and 3-2.

Brooklyn's ferocious flurry was started by little Augie Galan, whose batting average at the time was exactly .200 and who was waived to the minors last month by the Chicago Cubs to have the Dodgers toss him a life preserver.

He led off with a pinch double yesterday. Then the whole team batted around.

The Cardinals had an equally tough time taking their two victories from the Braves and must have been disheartened at seeing the Dodgers dance back out of the furnace at Pittsburgh.

In the first game Howard Pollet and Tom Earley waged a beautiful hurling duel until the eighth inning. The Braves scored first, a run in the fifth, and old Estel Crabtree, at 37 the miracle man of the Cards, tied the score with a homer in the seventh. Then in the eighth Buddy Hassett made an error with the bases loaded and St. Louis grabbed five runs and victory. In the second game Max Lanier and Jim Tobin gave another magnificent mound show—Lanier allowing five hits and Tobin six and the teams came up to the last of the ninth in a 2-2 deadlock. And Crabtree hammered out another home run!

The Cincinnati Reds bagged a doubleheader from the Phils 1-0 and 3-2. John Vander Meer pitched a three-hitter and fanned 11 in the first game. The Chicago Cubs clobbed on the New York Giants 7-3.

In the American League the New York Yankees clipped the Chicago White Sox 5-3. The Boston Red Sox edged out Cleveland 2-2. Detroit downed the Philadelphia Athletics, although outhit 7-4, and Washington whipped the St. Louis Browns 9-8 in 10 innings.

The management of the Warren Red Jackets announced this morning that the sale of ten dollar season tickets closed with the gratifying total of 83 books of tickets sold.

Purchasers of season tickets since the previous report include Leroy Bidwell, John Cortez, Harry Conerro, Floridin Company, Dr. William Graves, Helen Leuffenburger, Hyman Levinson, Al Michell, Homer Nohe, Floyd Newmaker, W. Harold Smith and Fred Weigel.

Syndicate Forwards Offer for Phillies

Philadelphia, Sept. 18—(AP)—A syndicate headed by Jack Kelly, national director of the civilian training program, has submitted its offer to President Gerry Nugent for purchase of the National League Phillies and is ready to talk turkey.

"The next move is up to Mr. Nugent," declared Kelly. "We are willing to negotiate if he wants to sell the club. If he doesn't—well, that's another matter. We want to give Philadelphia a winning ball club and I think Gerry is ready to talk business."

Still skeptical, however, Nugent said at Cincinnati where the Phillies are playing that "newspapers have been selling the club every year but I haven't. I want to see those sprouts develop into blooms before I make any decision."

Kelly declined to make public the price his group offered for the tail-end outfit but previous reports were the syndicate was willing to pay $500,000 and then put $250,000 into rejuvenating the club. He said the offer was for all the club's stock, its franchise and players, free of encumberances.

The Silly Side of Sport

Dallas, Tex.—(AP)—Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer of Texas Christian University tells about the green freshman who reported for football.

"He was a big fellow and willing but so stiff he couldn't bend his knees when he got down. I pointed out that by bending more he could get much more power into his lifting charge—and I worked with him a long time to get the idea across."

"'But, Coach,' the kid said seriously, 'I can lift a bale of cotton this other way right now.'

"And what's more he could! I gave up."

DRAGONS HEAVY FAVORITES TO GAIN 22nd WIN OVER KANE HI WOLVES HERE THIS SATURDAY

One of the oldest series in local scholastic football history will see another chapter written in the record books Saturday afternoon on Russell Field when the Kane Wolves tangle with the Dragons in their thirty-first struggle down through the years.

The rivalry started back in 1905 when Kane topped the Blue and White 5 to 0 on a field goal and safety for their first of five victories from then on.

With a break then until 1913, the Dragons, then playing their first game against Kane under their new coach, ran up a score of 77 to 0 to more than square the count.

In 1914 the local schoolboys cashed in with a 57-0 score which must have been too much for the Wolves, for again the rivalry was halted until 1917, when Warren walloped their foes once more.

But since that time, when such names as George Frantz, Ralph Akers, Vic Offerle, Newmaker, Putnam, Akers, Sontag, Ingersoll, McConnell, Leroy and Donald Dove, and others were making history for Warren High, the games have become more even and four ties have been recorded in the past dozen years.

The other four Kane victories came in 1920 by a score of 20 to 9, 1921 with a 21-0 count, 1934 with a 2-0 score, and last season when Big Bill Hillman skirted right end in a sea of mud to score the only touchdown of the game and give the Wolves a 6-0 victory.

This Saturday the Dragons will be heavy favorites to gain vengeance for last year's loss, with the Wolves having lost a large part of their varsity squad, including Hillman, and not boasting the strength known in recent years.

It will be the first year for the Wolves under the new guidance of Coach Tom Drummond, who transferred from Sheffield just before the practice got under way this fall. With not too much material, Drummond is having to experiment with various lineups in an effort to find his strongest eleven, and as yet he has not been able to arrive at a definite conclusion.

Going after their twenty-second triumph in the series, the local charges of "Jake" Leidig will probably lineup similary to last week's game, his starting lineup now fairly well known to both coach and fans.

With the finest backfield to hail from Warren High in a decade, the Leidigmen will probably stay on the ground in their attempt to flog the Wolves, though a capable aerial attack will be at their disposal if necessary to use it.

Saturday's game will start at 2:30 p. m. (DST), and popular prices as usual will prevail.

The record of the two teams over their historic and colorful series:

STATE COLLEGE ELEVENS START WARS TONIGHT

BY TED MEIER

Philadelphia, Sept. 18—(AP)—The 1941 football season for Pennsylvania college elevens opens tonight with Geneva College invading Youngstown, O., for a game with the Ohioans. It is one of five listed for state teams this weekend.

The Beaver Falls aggregation, making the first start under a new coach, Alured "Slim" Ransome, will probably find the going tough, judging from Youngstown's record last year.

The first college game on a Pennsylvania gridiron is scheduled Friday night at Bethlehem when Davis-Elkins of West Virginia encounter Jud Timm's Moravian Greyhounds, a team that won six straight games in 1940, but was upset by Susquehanna in its final contest.

Duquesne, one of the state's major elevens, makes its 1941 debut at Pittsburgh on Saturday, meeting Waynesburg, always dangerous against the Dukes.

On Sunday St. Vincent of Latrobe, and St. Francis of Loretto, invade New York state for their opening tilts. The Vinnies meet Niagara University at Niagara Falls while the Red Flashes, winner of their last six 1940 games, encounter Canisius at Buffalo.

Three other games, Mansfield at Albright, Edinboro at Westminster and Blue Ridge at West Chester, were carded for this weekend but were cancelled because of the infantile paralysis danger.

Jackets Practising Nightly To Prepare For Strong Pace A. C.

Starting with a drill last night on Beaty Field, the Red Jackets prepare for their battle with the Pace Athletic Club and the one and only George "Whitey" Fowle, hailed as the best halfback in semi-pro football around western Pennsylvania, which will start at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon on Russell Field.

In an effort to polish up some of the rough spots in the Jacket play against Homewood and to make the local grid machine run smoother all the way around, Coaches "Doc" Reese and Bill Paris have scheduled rehearsals for tonight and tomorrow evening also.

The heavy local outfit, which may develop into one of the finest teams ever to represent Warren on the professional gridirons of this section of the state, realizes what it is up against in Sunday's fracas and is taking practice sessions seriously.

Every man, concentrating on his own position and attempting to make himself more valuable to the squad, knows that the coming show will be more than a party like their exhibition against Homewood. "Whitey" Fowle's club is big, strong, and owns a veteran lineup that is hardly changed from last year, when the team won eight, lost one, and tied one.

With Fowle coaching the Pacers, the Pittsburgh club has gained added skill, for the inimitable triple-threat backfield coach is equally as smart at mentoring as he is in making gains on the field.

The visitors will have with them Sunday one of the strongest forward walls in the tri-state area, including two veteran and outstanding guards who are hard to match. Bill McGiffin and Joe O'Toole are the two players, capably supported by understudies Gib Burckart and Carl Raitano. All weighing about the same, the boys vary from 180 to 195 pounds.

Adding weight to the squad are Charles Steinmetz, 240 pound center, Walter Sobien and Milan Blazek, 275 and 230 pound tackles respectively. James Kelly and George Braun are towering and husky terminals, both weighing slightly over 200 pounds.

These boys make up a fair guarantee of protection for the lighter and speedy backs paced by Fowle himself. Ray Slayton, a keen, shifty runner, is the lightest man on the squad at 160 pounds, and Anthony Cotton, valuable defensive back and outstanding blocker, tips the scales at 180, being the heaviest backfield man on the team.

Fans are assured a real battle when the Pace A. C. comes to town this weekend to mix with the champs, and with popular prices prevailing, the crowd should increase from last week as the shows start getting better weekly now.

Sports Round-up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON JR.

New York, Sept. 18.—(The Special News Service—One of the biggest disappointments Leo Durocher has had lately was when Montreal got into the International League's final playoffs . . . Leo wanted to bring up Claude Corbitt from the farm to play shortstop the last couple of weeks . . . And to make it worse, Tony Cuccinello has been around watching the bums as an antidote for his experiences as Jersey City manager and has spent most of his spare time singing praises of Claude . . . After the past three days it seems that the Dodgers could make things a lot easier for themselves and the fans by playing the ninth inning first . . . One of the guys who stopped by to congratulate Johnny Allen on his swell pitching Tuesday was Paul Derringer, who was in line for a few congratulations himself . . . The report from the home front is that the Dodgers had to rent extra quarters to handle world series applications. We thought they'd tacked them right onto the price of tickets.

Quote, Unquote

Bob Newsom, "I've pitched this year just as good as I did last year, but you can't win if you don't get them tallies behind you."

Lefty Gomez: "I oughta win two or three more games if Johnny Murphy keeps in condition."

Service Dept.

Hank Bunoski, who used to belong to the Rochester Red Wings, catches for the Camp Upton (N. Y.) baseball team, which is shooting for the second corps area championship, and also is coach of the football team . . . Jim Platner, San Diego, Calif., promoter, is planning a series of amateur fight cards with service men

SPORT SCATTERINGS

CLEANING THE CUFF

Though we don't intend to commit treason, if local scholastic fans want a real treat of night football Friday evening the Bradford Owls promise to entertain them at Senior Field, Bradford, against the strong DuBois Beavers . . . the visitors, incidentally are favorites to win . . . And according to Johnny Nelson, Bradford Era sports editor and wizard with statistics and other records, the two teams haven't met in Bradford for thirteen years and back in 1928 the Beavers copped the tilt, 12-0 . . . Last year at DuBois the Owls took another on the chin in a sea of fog by a couple of touchdowns . . . Johnny states the second half was played when it was so foggy that no one could see the field . . . When the game was over the officials believed the score was 18-6 so that was accepted as official . . . But so much for Bradford High . . . Concerning their PONY League governors' cup winners, however, we understand several will be in faster loops next season unless Uncle Sam asks them to sign one of his contracts . . .

From what we gather some of the high school gridders aren't satisfied with the players we give mention to in our columns . . . We write about what we see, understand . . . And our advice would be to quit playing your football in the paper but concentrate on the game on the playing field . . . We do not mean to show favoritism toward any player individually, but those that do have an outstanding day or are exceptional deserve mention and regardless who you are, you'll get it . . . Satisfied now? . . . Over on the other corner where that establishment known as Harry's Gold Mine operates, we were involved in deep discussion over Sunday's coming attraction against the Red Jacks . . . "Whitey" Fowle and his Pace A. C. . . . With Fowle as the general topic, Luke Noecker, local school teacher who hasn't been absent (well, at least not many times) from a Red Jacket game since he bought his first booster ticket four years ago, added his word of praise for the outstanding backfield ace by remarking "That Fowle is a real triple threater, he can punt, pass and run . . . oh, that guy does everything except pump up the ball!" . . . We'll wager he's done that too, Luke . . .

Though this scribe is gently holding onto the faintest hope that the Gas House Gang will win the National flag, here's a tip for local baseball fans from Harry Jennings of El Paso, well-known locally, who seems to be sure of the answer already . . . Jennings writes, "Except to start for Brooklyn September 22 to witness the entire series between the Dodgers and New York." . . . That gent has more confidence than even the Bums themselves . . . The city editor, an Elk in good standing, (they say), tells us that the club alleys are now open and that some of the boys are beginning to warm up their bowling arms . . . And El should know; he's secretary of the club . . . The new idea of selling season tickets instead of booster tickets has proved to be much more successful for the Jackets, and the same system will probably be used next year . . . Aside to Joe Massa . . . According to the Johnsonburg scribe the Ramblers could be better—much better. Their 6-0 win over Clarion wasn't especially impressive, but better days are expected to be ahead . . . All you'll need to beat them is eleven men and Hitler's recipe for a blitzkrieg!

retained rather than handed over to a foreign government.

The secretary made the disclosure at a press conference after Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones announced yesterday that a reconstruction Finance Corporation subsidiary was buying $100,000,000 of minerals from Russia and paying for part of it in advance in order to provide the Russians with cash to pay for war supply purchases in this country.

Morgenthau said that on August 15 Russian Ambassador Constantine Oumansky informed him that the Russians were shipping $10,000,000 of gold to the United States in the next 90 days, but needed the money immediately to pay American manufacturers for goods already ordered.

With the approval of the State Department, Morgenthau related, he paid Oumansky the $10,000,000 in advance upon the ambassador's promise to deliver the equivalent of gold in 90 days.

Morgenthau said no further requests for Russian aid had come to the treasury and he could not predict what action would be taken on any future requests because, "you know, the treasury is on a day to day policy."

BUSY SESSION IS HELD BY LEADERS OF GIRL SCOUTS

The Warren County Girl Scout Leaders' Association held its first fall meeting at the Girl Scout office Tuesday evening. Mrs. Ann McManus, who was elected president of the club in June, presided for the first time.

The resignation of Mrs. H. H. Hesch as representative in the Warren County Girl Scout Council and treasurer of the organization, was received with regret. Mrs. Hesch will move to Youngstown, Ohio, in the near future. Mrs. Glenn Mickelson was elected council representative and Mrs. H. R. Henning, was elected treasurer.

Mrs. A. J. Weiler, member of the training committee of the council, reported that Miss Katherine Park, a member of the Girl Scout national staff, will be in Warren to give training the week of November 3. All leaders will be expected to be present at three meetings that week. A meeting of all leaders will follow a tureen supper on Monday November 3. Another general meeting will be held on Friday. In addition, Miss Park will meet in round table session with leaders of Brownie Scouts, intermediate Girl Scouts and Senior Girl Scouts.

Mrs. A. J. Weiler was appointed chairman of the program committee to arrange meetings for the association for the season of 1941-42. A social hour in honor of Mrs. Hesch followed the business meeting.

This drop, Ickes said, brought the aggregate decline in stocks for a two weeks period to 1,023,000 and compared with a drop of only 160,000 in stocks during the corresponding two weeks last year.

"Our east coast gasoline stocks now," he reported, "are about 2,700,000 barrels, of 12.5 per cent less than they were at the same time last year. East coast gasoline demand, on the other hand, during 1941 is about 11 per cent higher than during 1940."

Members of the cast include Katherine Port, Mary Kelly, Cecil Harrington, Evelyn Henry, Charles Pickens, Madolyn Jamieson and James Foreman.

The Tionesta High School girls' trio will sing several numbers. Saturday will be Livestock Day. Judging will be done in the morning, with boys' and girls' judging contests in dairy cattle and poultry to be held at 10:30. Features of the afternoon will be a concert by the Knox Glass Associates band at 2 p. m., followed by a horse pulling contest.

A large number of entries have been made in the hobby and antique show, being displayed in every available window in town.

There will be free movies every evening on the fair grounds.

Registration for Night School a Warren High Set for Next Tuesday

Registration for night school classes will take place at the high school building on Tuesday evening, September 23. All persons interested are asked to be there promptly at 7:30.

Four groups or types of classes will be organized this year. One new division, namely in the distributive occupations is being added to the lists of last year.

Those persons interested in commercial work will be afforded the opportunity to enroll in shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping, business English and related subjects.

These classes have in the past called for the largest enrollment and meet regularly twice a week from seven to nine o'clock.

Opportunity will be given for refresher training work in defense training classes for those now employed or partially employed. These courses will consist of blue print reading, mechanical drawing, drafting, related science and related mathematics. This work will be under the direction of Pennsylvania State College.

The usual classes in oil and gas industry under the direction of Pennsylvania State College extension division will be in operation. There will be provision for first, second and third year classes which classes will meet twice a week for two hours each.

Classes in distributive occupations will be a new venture in the Warren night school. These classes are set up under the extension division of the University of Pittsburgh in cooperation with the retail merchants division of the local Chamber of Commerce. In the preliminary set-up there will be three courses proposed. One will deal with credit fundamentals; a second, with salesmanship including store service and public relations; a third, waitress training. These classes will meet once a week for two hours.

All classes are open to bona fide residents of Warren borough. A small tuition charge is made for those individuals who live outside the borough limits. Individual must be sixteen or more years of age to enroll and may not be in attendance upon public day school.

Classes operate from seven to nine o'clock and the school will be open Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday or those days when the regular day school is in session.

All pupils must make a deposit of $5.00 as an earnest fee of attendance. A single deposit covers more than one election. This deposit will be returned at the end of the school year if the individual attends 75% of the class meetings.

Under usual conditions the night school course operates for a period of thirty weeks or terminates about the fifteenth of May.

doing the scrapping . . . One of the first plugs for the idea came from Col. H. L. Larsen of the eighth marines, which indicates the leathernecks aren't going to let the Army and Navy do all the fighting—with or without gloves . . . The boxing business in Norfolk, Va., is going through a boom with Fred Apostoli the No. 1 attraction in a bunch of good scrappers from the naval base . . . The U. of Alabama is another college offering service men cut rate football. The price is 55 cents for all six games within the state . . . The Grand View Country Club at West Boylston, Mass., has decided to let army officers play golf for half the regular greens fee and has set aside Mondays when 100 enlisted men from any New England camp can play for nothing . . . Private John Gudiski, ex-burper, has been appointed wrestling coach at Mitchell Field . . . Maybe he'll teach the boys how to scare the enemy to death by making faces.

Tim Cohane, New York World-Telegram: "It appears that the Athletics got back into the cellar joint just in time to put up their fall preserves. A little canning wouldn't hurt them, at that."

Cleaning The Cuff

After Lew Jenkins knocked out Cleo McNeal at Minneapolis last week a flock of autograph hounds gathered around the exit. And most of them passed up Lew to get signatures from his wife, Katie . . . George Halas pays about $110 a game for movies of the Chicago Bears in action . . . They don't all play suicide schedules these days. In a dozen games on the opening day of the Idaho scholastic grid season, the winning teams scored 335 points, the losers six . . . Harry Todd, the crack amateur golfer from Dallas, is going into business at Hobbs, N. M., and out of competitive golf . . . Lightweight Marty Servo will join the navy right after his fight with Ray Robinson in Philly, providing Ray leaves him in shape to sign up . . . One of the big selling points for season sports tickets at the U. of Missouri is that they're protection against the "sold out" sign in basketball.

to the race, all but broke up the NCAA 880-yard run at Stanford this summer. Jim Lang of Washington State led the race until the dog entered. The intruder, absentmindedly running at canine speed, moved far ahead then accommodatingly dropped back to Lang's pace.

This put him between Lang's legs and broke his pace. Finally Harold Hunt, a Nebraska pole vaulter, saw Lang's plight and grabbed the dog.

New Orleans, La.—(AP)—Paul Allemandi, Tulane reserve football back, was left behind when Tulane journeyed to Chapel Hill to play North Carolina last fall. Listening to the radio with some friends, he heard the announcer suddenly blurt.

"Allemandi of Tulane goes off left tackle for six yards."

All through the game Allemandi heard how he was starring for dear old Tulane 1,000 miles away.

It developed that Bubber Ely, Tulane halfback, had torn his jersey and put on one with Allemandi's number. The announcer stuck to his program.

Bismarck, N. D.—(AP)—Rain had slowed play in the North Dakota amateur baseball tournament and as Ellendale and Leonard base-runners floundered in the mud an outraged fan shouted:

"Whaddaya gotta do, knock it over the fence to get to second?"

Noonan, Leonard outfielder, slammed a slow curve toward the fence. It apparently cleared it but finally landed in the playing field. Noonan got to second base.

But the Ellendale left fielder trotted in, conferred with the umpire, and Noonan was credited with a home run.

The ball had cleared the fence, hit a log on the other side, and bounced back over the barrier.
